PREFACE.

THE present volume forms parts of a series of Calendars of the Close Rolls from the reign of Edward II. to that of Edward IV., the object and character of which are explained in the Preface to the first volume for the reign of Edward II. (A.D. 1307—1313). The text has been prepared, with the sanction of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, by Mr. W. H. Stevenson. The Index has been compiled by Mr. C. H. Woodruff. Aug. 4. Windsor. To John de Evre, escheator beyond Trent. Order to deliver to Ellen, late the wife of Walter de Huntercombe, a moiety of the manor of Belford with appurtenances, except four messuages, 100 acres of land, 2 acres of meadow, and 200 acres of wood, together with the issues of the same received by him, which moiety was taken into the king's hands by reason of Walter's death, as it appears by inquisition that Walter and Ellen were enfeoffed thereof, by licence of the late king, by a fine levied by Alan le Chapeleyn of Belford, to have and to hold to them and the heirs of their bodies, and that she continued her seisin thereof jointly with her husband until his death, the said moiety being held of the king in chief as of the barony of Muschamp, the king having taken fealty of Ellen.

It was found by inquisition that goods to the value of 70*l.* 17*s.* 0*d.* were arrested at Great Yarmouth, in the fourth year of the king' reign, and were delivered to Robert Elis; that 70*l.* of the money of the count's men in the hands of men of the same town were arrested but not levied in the same year; that goods to the value of 111*l.* 7*s.* 0*d.* were arrested at Lynn, in the same year, and were delivered to the said Walter as attorney of Robert Elis; and that Walter has received in addition 35*l.* 11*s.* 0*d.*: total 287*l.* 15*s.* 0*d.*, whereof Walter has received from Robert and in Robert's name 217*l.* 15*s.* 0*d.*, in part payment of the aforesaid 954*l.* The count, the king, and the envoys agree that Walter shall have a writ to levy the 70*l.* in the hands of the men of Yarmouth, and that Walter shall go with the envoys to the count to receive satisfaction for the balance due to him and for his damages, and that, if the count fail to satisfy him, he shall recover from the goods of the count's merchants coming to England. It is agreed that Robert Elis shall receive nothing by virtue of the aforesaid obligation in right of the said merchant's debts and of the debt of 259*l.* due to Richard Wake and John Wyp, as Richard and John were present at the inquisition and were found not to have received or arrested anything. Whereupon they were desired to come to the king's court to receive award, which they promised to do; but they did not appear, though the envoys long awaited them. It is agreed that they shall [not] sue or make arrest, but shall go to the count in person, unless they agree that Walter shall represent them. He is not to intermeddle further with the lands that Philip held of other lords.

April 22. Lincoln. To the same. May 26. Newcastle-on-Tyne. To the sheriffs of London. Whereas, owing to various arrests of goods of the merchants of King Henry III. by Margaret, late countess of Flanders, and of the merchants of Flanders made by the said king and by the late king, it was agreed between the late king and Guy, late count of Flanders, for himself and the said countess, that enquiry should be made as to the value of the goods so seized on both sides, and that the value of the goods of the Flemish merchants seized in England should go towards payment for the goods of Englishmen seized in Flanders, and that the count should acquit the said king and his father against the Flemish merchants, and if the value of the goods seized in England were insufficient for the payment of the Englishmen for their goods seized in Flanders, then the count should make good the deficiency, with like clause for restitution by the king in case the English goods seized in Flanders were insufficient to satisfy the Flemish merchants for their goods seized in England; and it was found by inquisitions that the goods of the merchants of England, Ireland and Wales seized by the countess were worth 4,000*l.* sterling more than the Flemish goods seized in England; which sum the count did not pay, although often requested to do so; whereupon the late king ordered that 730 marks in which the mayor and community of the city of London were bound to certain burgesses of Ghent on behalf of Henry III., which he found deposited in a certain place, should be distributed to the said English merchants in part payment of the above 4,000*l.*; and the bailiffs and échevins of Ghent, at the procuration of their said com-burgesses, caused the wool and other goods of William de Luyton, Robert Person, Roger le Viroler, Richard de Wandesworth, William le Folour, Henry de Arderne, William de Kent, Hugh Pourt, John Gombaud, and Peter de Blakeneye, citizens of London, to be arrested to the value of 1,000*l.* sterling in the town of Sluys (de Exclusis) for the above 730 marks; whereupon the late king frequently requested the bailiffs and échevins to satisfy the said citizens for their goods so arrested, and to restore the said bond to the mayor and community of London; the late king afterwards, because the bailiffs and échevins sent many frivolous and untruthful replies to him and did not fulfil his request, desired Sir Robert de Beton, count of Flanders, to do justice herein; and the present king wrote to him requesting him to do speedy justice to the said citizens: because the said count has not done justice to them, as appears by the letters patent of the mayor and community of the city of London, the king now orders the sheriffs to arrest goods of the men of Ghent to the value of 1,000*l.* sterling, the estimated value of the above goods, and to keep the same until the said citizens have been satisfied, certifying the king of their proceedings herein. Feb. 22. Canterbury. To R. count of Flanders. At the complaint of Richard Randolf, burgess of Great Yarmouth, that certain Flemings lying in wait in a ship called 'la Cruxesbergh' of Sluys (de Exclusis) attacked the said Richard's ship called 'le Welifare' of Yarmouth, laden with wine and other goods, on the sea near Dover, on Saturday after SS. Philip and James, and slew William Barfot, master of the same, and fifteen mariners in the same, and took and carried away the said ship, value 150*l.*, and wines and goods amongst other goods in the same, value 131*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.* sterling, the king lately caused inquisition to be made in this matter by the mayor and bailiffs of Dover, whereby it was found that thirty-two men in a ship called 'Cruxesbergh' of Sluys (de Exclusis) coming from Flanders to Dover assaulted the said Richard's ship as above, and that seventeen of them took the ship to Scotland to the king's enemies, and that the other seventeen took the rest of the goods to Sluys in their ship called 'Cruxesbergh'; whereupon the king wrote to the earl to do justice to the said Richard; to which the earl replied that he had not heard of the said deed when he received the king's letters, adding that he would willingly enquire into the matter and grievously punish those who should be found guilty, and would cause his goods to be restored to the merchant; the king now requests him to do what he has promised without further delay. The king has never refused to do justice in like cases to the count's subjects complaining before the king and his council, although the count may perhaps have been given to understand the contrary. The king prays him to write back by the bearer what he has done herein.

Whereas the late king, on 22 September, in the 19th year of his reign, committed to Stephen de Penecestre during pleasure the custody of the body and lands of John Wacelyn, son and heir of Nicholas Wacelyn, because it appeared by the certificate of the treasurer and barons of the exchequer that John was a madman and an idiot from his birth; and afterwards, on 2 November, in the 30th year of his reign, because it was found by inquisition taken after the death of John by Walter de Gloucester, then escheator this side Trent, the lands of the said John being in the custody of Margery de Penecestre on account of his madness, that he held at his death the manor of Iwehurst, in the county of Sussex, of John, count of Britanny, and certain lands in the county of Southampton of the prior and convent of Winchester, and that he did not hold any lands of the king, and that Nicholaa wife of Henry de Sharndene and Matilda late the wife of John de la Parrok were his sisters and nearest heirs, the late king ordered the escheator not to intermeddle further with the lands of the said John, and to restore the issues thereof from the time of his death to the said Henry, Nicholaa, and Matilda, who had entered the lands by virtue of the above order; the king understands that John de Raylegh, pretending that he had an estate and seisin of certain lands by the deed and feoffment of the said John, has instituted an assize of novel disseisin before the said justices against the said Henry, Nicholaa, Richard de Codyn, and Matilda his wife, and certain of the king's ministers who took the tenements into the king's hands; as the late king regarded any such alienation as null and frivolous according to law and custom, as appears by his taking and detaining the lands in his hands and by the examination and process, and as the king regards any alienation made by the said John as void and being unwilling on that account to annul the said examination and process, he orders the justices to consider the premises diligently, and to so conduct themselves that nothing may be attempted to the prejudice of the king or his ministers or to the annulling of the said examination and process.

Memorandum, that Sir William de Crekelad and Sir John de Norhampton, Conversi chaplains, and other Conversi exhibited a petition before the king and his council in parliament at London, in the eighth year of his reign, complaining of Sir Adam de Osgodeby, keeper of the house of the Conversi, London, in this form: The said chaplains, who are charged and sworn from their infancy to pray for the king and his ancestors, and the other Conversi of London who are houseless (desherbergez), say that whereas Henry III. gave in common by his charter to all Conversi and all to be converted and housed the plot where the court of the Conversi is inhabited, Sir Adam de Osgodeby, their keeper, ought [to allow] them their habitations in their said close, but that he keeps them out and harbours his clerks there, and allows strangers and horses to be harboured there, and that he has demised some of their tenements where they might be housed to strangers for the term of three lives by their common seal without their assent, to the prejudice of the king, to whom the tenements ought to revert after their day; wherefore they pray that such demises shall be annulled, and that they may have their harbourments in their said close, because if they fall ill or become enfeebled they have no place where they may dwell or have refuge or easement of right except in the common close specially built for them and to be inhabitated solely by them, and as the matins and masses of the said chaplains, of the alms of the kings their founders, are worth as much as the pater nosters of laymen. French.

Which petition having been exhibited, it was decided by the council that it should be delivered to the chancellor as principal keeper of all the hospitals or almshouses founded of the king's alms, so that he might do what he should think fit concerning it. Having inspected the petition, the chancellor sent Robert de Bardelby and Robert de Askeby, clerks of the chancery, to the house of the Conversi to enquire into the above allegations, and to certify him concerning the same. The said Robert and Robert, having called before them the aforesaid parties on Monday the feast of St. Tiburtius and Valerian, in the chapel of the Conversi, made inquisition by all the Conversi dwelling in the house and others then present; whereby it was found, by the oath of the Conversi, that the said William never had a fixed residence within the house, but that he had access to the house in the time of Sir Henry le Aumener, late keeper of the same, sometimes passing the night in the house, but that the said keeper prohibited him from dwelling there or being received therein, and deprived him of his wages, on account of divers crimes whereof he defamed the whole community of the Conversi then conversant in the house, and whereof he accused them by letters to the keeper, all the Conversi having afterwards purged themselves of the same before the keeper. They also say that Adam, the present keeper, allowed the said William his wages of his special grace against the will and assent of the Conversi. They say that he is not fit to dwell within the house, and that they will not permit this in any wise, and, in answer to the question whether he was fit to receive his wages, they say that this depends upon the grace of the keeper. As to the two tenements, they say that they were demised by the common assent of all the Conversi and almost (quasi) against the will of the keeper, and that William assented and wrote the notes of the demise, and that they were demised for the profit of the house, as they are demised at a higher ferm than before, and the tenants have to do necessary repairs, which would have to be done at the cost of the house if they were not so demised. Nothing is done against the said John, because he did not sue. And the inquisitors assigned to William the morrow as day before the chancellor to hear and receive answer and judgment. Afterwards the chancellor decided that William should have nothing of the contents of his petition, but that he should be remitted to his keeper to be castigated for his false complaint according to the keeper's discretion. And the chancellor ordered that the present memorandum should be enrolled in the rolls of chancery, and should be placed upon the files amongst the memoranda of the chancery.

Order not to intermeddle further with the lands in Kelmescote, Filkyngho, and Halewelle, taken into the king's hands upon the death of Roland de Oddyngseles, as it appears by inquisition that he held no lands in his demesne as of fee of the king in chief or others in the county of Oxford, but that he held the above lands of the abbot of Cirecestre by the service of a pair of gloves yearly, and that he alienated them, long before his death, to Walter Spryngaud, Roland son of Roland, Richard de Lente, William de Everley, John Cokerel, Robert Wyryng, and others.

10*s.* for 'craneward' and 10*s.* of sheriff's aid in the hundred of Gertre) committed felony and was outlawed, the said Joan de Assheby and Joan de Bedeworth being then alive and seised, and that after their death John de Assheby, brother of William, entered the premises by intrusion and enfeoffed Robert de Assheby his son and Margaret, daughter of Roger Hymayns, thereof in free marriage; after whose death Joan, daughter of the said Margaret and wife of the aforesaid Alan, entered the premises, which the escheator took into the king's hands as escheat by the felony committed by the said William; whereupon, because it appeared by the rolls of chancery of Henry III., that the said king pardoned one William son of William of Great Assheby the suit of his peace for the death of Hugh le Rus, provided that he stood to right if any one should speak against him, and granted that he should retain all his lands except the lands and fees in Cateby and Assheby Magna granted by the said king to Edmund his son and to Thomas de Tholouse, the king commanded the said escheator to make inquisition, in the presence of Alan and Joan, whether the said William son of William of Great Assheby was the same as the William of whom the escheator made mention in his return as above, and if so, whether he died in the said king's peace, and whether John his brother entered the lands in Theddyngworth as his nearest heir; by which inquisition it was found that the two Williams were the same person, and that he died in the king's peace, and John his brother entered the lands in Theddyngworth as his next heir.

June 28. Westminster. To the same. Order to deliver to Joan, late the wife of Richard de Dupedene, as nearest [friend] of his heir Nicholas her son, a third of the manor of Dupedene, as it appears by inquisition that Richard held the said third of the king in chief as of the honour of St. Valery by the yearly service of 33*s.* 4*d.*, and that he held no other lands in chief as of the crown by reason whereof the custody of his lands should pertain to the king, by which inquisition it was found that Nicholas his son is his nearest heir and is aged a year and a half.

and of Walter, then archbishop of York, in the late king's court expressly disavowed the fine, and the abbot did not deny the archbishop's seisin of the advowson of Axemynstre church, nor claimed anything in the advowson by that fine, but released all or any right he might have therein to the late king; wherefore it was considered in the said court that the foot of the fine then in the treasury should be taken out of the treasury and cancelled and annulled, as appears by the record of the late king's court; and the late king forthwith granted that the church of Axemynstre should remain annexed to the aforesaid prebends as they were before the said usurpation; the said bishop now endeavours to exercise ordinary jurisdiction in the said church as if it were a common cure (curata) and not a prebendal annexed to the said prebends, and cites the abovesaid prebendaries to answer before him for certain matters concerning the aforesaid church; the king therefore forbids him to attempt anything herein to the prejudice of the king's right or in derogation of the grant of his progenitors or to weaken the annexation aforesaid, and orders him to cause anything he may have done to the contrary to be amended without delay.

Nov. 2. King's Clipston. To L[ouis], king of France and Navarre. Request that he will cause restitution and satisfaction to be made to William de Combmartin, Thomas Bauflour, Simon de Swanlond, John Priour, and other citizens and merchants of London for one of their ships and the wool therein, of the value of 2,000 marks sterling, which certain malefactors of Calais lying in wait on the sea with twenty-two well-armed ships took and carried away with them to Calais, after attacking near the isle of Thanet four ships of the said merchants laden at London with wool and other goods to be taken to Andwerp in Brabant, when they slew and wounded certain of the crews, the merchants, their servants and mariners regarding them as friends. He is requested to write back his pleasure by the bearer hereof. [Fœdera.]

To the same. Like letters concerning an attack by malefactors of Calais, who lately attacked by their barges and boats a ship of John Brand, citizen and merchant of London, laden at London by him and Henry de Boure, Nicholas Fissh and Siward de Bokham, merchants of the Almain Hanse, dwelling in this realm and enjoying the privileges of the king's merchants, with 34 sacks of wool to take to Andwerp, the said malefactors having captured the ship whilst she lay upon land near Mergate, in the isle of Thanet, owing to the ebb of the sea, when they took her and her crew and cargo to Calais. [Fœdera.]

To J. duke of Lorraine (Lotr'), Brabant and Limburg, the king's nephew. The king has written to him special letters on behalf of Gilbert Roberd, burgess of Ipswich, Richard Stanyn, Richard de Clopton, Nicholas de Walsok', and their fellows, merchants, to procure them restitution of 29 bales (sarpleriorum) of wool and other their goods to the value of 400*l.* sterling and more, which they sent out of this realm to foreign parts to trade therewith, and which Arnald de Stonbergh, Peter his brother, and other malefactors of the duke's power took near Neuport on the coast of Flanders, and carried, together with 10*l.* in money of the said merchants, with them into the duke's dominion; and the duke has recently written to the king requesting him to cause restitution to be made of a ship called 'Zuane' of Stonbergh, lately arrested at Yarmouth, whose release the duke had not otherwise requested, and on account of whose seizure the men of Stonbergh have taken and detained goods of the merchants of Yarmouth, and that the duke would cause restitution to be made of the goods seized at Stonbergh; and whereas, at the duke's prior request by his letters testifying that William Cleyssone, in whose possession the said ship was arrested at Yarmouth, was from the town of Stonbergh in Brabant and an inhabitant of Brabant and not of Bruges or any town pertaining to it, and that the ship with the goods and tackle truly belonged to him, the king ordered the sheriff of Norfolk to enter the town of Great Yarmouth notwithstanding its liberty, and to cause the said ship to be delivered to William Cleyssone, notwithstanding any order of the king's to arrest goods of the merchants of Bruges or the towns pertaining to it; in reply to which the sheriff has returned that the ship called 'le Zuane' of Sluys (de

The king hopes that the duke will not permit his subjects to injure the king's subjects, and desires him to certify the king by the bearer hereof of his proceedings in this matter.

To W. archbishop of Canterbury. Request that he will cause brother Alexander de Stanwyk, monk of Christ Church, Canterbury, to be sent to some other place, there to remain according to the rule of his order, providing that the goods of the monastery alienated by him be recalled to the ownership of the monastery, in which the king will assist him, as the king learns from trustworthy accounts that Alexander, when lately filling an office in the monastery, dissipated the goods of the monastery in divers ways, giving them to his relations contrary to his profession, and that, because he has been deprived of his office, he now raises contentions and schisms amongst the brethren, the king desiring to preserve the quiet of that church on account of the devotion to it of his progenitors, the founders thereof, especially to St. Thomas the Martyr, and because he and his predecessors received the royal unction from that church. The king has ordered the prior and convent to assist and counsel the archbishop in executing this order. He is to certify the king of his proceedings by his letters before the next parliament.

Nov. 19. Clipston. To Roger le Brabanzon. Order to stay continually in the Bench, forbidding him to leave the same, except for infirmity, without the king's special order, as complaint is made that persons prosecuting pleas before him and his fellows, justices appointed to hold pleas before the king, are much delayed in their affairs because some of the justices do not stay continuously in the Bench. July 20. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to examine the records and process of the plea brought by Margaret, late the wife of Roger de Colevill, tenant in chief of the late king as of the honour of Albemarle in Bitham, Estbitham, Westbitham, and Carreby, co. Lincoln, against William de Sancto Quintino and Henry de Colevill before the late king's justices of the Bench for her dower in Harpham, Thirum, Grancemore, Burton Agneys, and Auburn, wherein William and Henry vouched to warranty Roger's heir and Richard de Brewosa, who then held the wardship of the heir's lands by demise from William de Brewosa, to whom it was granted by the late king on 8 May, in the sixteenth year of his reign, and also vouched other keepers of the lands of the said Roger elsewhere, in which plea the justices considered that William de Sancto Quintino and Henry should hold their tenements in peace and that Margaret should recover her dower against Richard and the other keepers of the heir, and that what she so recovered should be deducted from Richard's ferm, which records and process the king sends them sub pede sigilli, and to acquit Mary, late the wife of the said William de Brewosa, of 4*l.* 16*s.* 7*d.*, the yearly value of the lands so recovered against Richard, and of the arrears of the same from the time of the said recovery, the treasurer and barons having charged her, as she has shown the king, with that sum yearly because she was charged with the whole ferm immediately after her husband's death because his goods and chattels came to her hands, the said Richard being altogether omitted.

Nov. 14. York. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas at the suit of the executors of the will of Isabella de Fortibus, countess of Albemarle, by petition before the late king and his council in parliament at Carlisle, suggesting that the late king owed them a great sum of money for corn and other goods and chattels of the deceased found in her lands at her death when they came to the late king's hands, which corn and goods were taken by the late king's escheators and other ministers and bailiffs for his use, and praying him to cause them to be satisfied for the said sum, the late king granted them the debts that the abbot and convent of Fourneys owed to him, and ordered his treasurer and barons of the exchequer to examine the rolls of the exchequer and to certify him of what he owed to the executors for the above cause, and of what the aforesaid abbot and convent owed him; and they signified to him that he owed to the said executors 673*l.* 3*s.* 4¼*d.*, and that the abbot and convent owed him 788*l.* 11*s.* 0¼*d.* for the arrears of a moiety of ecclesiastical benefices granted to him in the archdeaconry of Richemund in the 23rd year of his reign, and for the arrears of the tenth of benefices in that archdeaconry in the 24th year of his reign, and of the money of the tenth granted to him in aid of the Holy Land deposited with the abbot and convent; whereupon the late king ordered his treasurer and barons to cause 673*l.* 3*s.* 4¼*d.* to be assigned to the aforesaid executors out of the above sum due from the abbot and convent, and to cause the abbot and convent to be acquitted of the amount so assigned at the exchequer, provided that they satisfied him for the remaining 115*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.*, as appears by the rolls of the late king's chancery; and the present king ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to cause the above order to be put into execution; and it is now shewn to him on behalf of the abbot that, although the late king's treasurer and barons of the exchequer caused the abbot to make a recognisance in the exchequer for the payment of the said sum of 673*l.* 3*s.* 4¼*d.* to the executors in exoneration of the late king, and the abbot has satisfied the executors, as, he says, may be proved by the memoranda of the exchequer and otherwise, and he has frequently asked the treasurer and barons to cause allowance to be made therefor to him in his debts due to the exchequer, in accordance with the orders of the late and the present king, nevertheless the treasurer and barons have delayed making him full allowance for that sum because they found, upon fuller examination, that the abbot owed part of the aforesaid debts to the late king for the arrears of the moiety and tenth aforesaid, and owed nothing for money deposited with him of the tenth in aid of the Holy Land, and that he owed part of the said debts for the arrears of the triennial tenth of benefices in the aforesaid archdeaconry, and for other causes not specified in the writs of the late and the present kings: the king now orders them to cause this sum to be allowed to the abbot in the debts due from him to the late king for the causes specified in the said writs and for the arrears of the abovesaid triennial tenth and for other causes, if they find by the memoranda of the exchequer or otherwise that the abbot has paid this sum to the executors.

Dec. 16. Clipston. To the bailiff of Holdernesse. Whereas dissension has arisen between certain of the bonds (de bondis) of the manor of Brustwyk by reason of the contrariety of two customs in that manor, to wit certain of them asserting the custom to be that when any tenant in bondage dies, his wife, if she survive, ought to hold her husband's tenements in bondage for her lifetime without paying any fine or relief for the tenements after her husband's death, and if she take a second husband, then the second husband ought to make fine for entry and for marrying the widow, and that the second husband ought to hold the tenements in bondage for all his life, although his wife die before him; other of the bonds alleging, on the contrary, that there is no such custom there, but another custom that after the death of the woman thus married to a second husband, the heirs of her first husband ought to be admitted to make fine for their ancestors' tenements, and that the second husband ought to be amoved from such tenements after his wife's death, and the tenements ought to be delivered to the heirs of the first husband by such fine; the king appointed John de Sutton, Robert le Conestable of Holdernesse, and Walter de Goushill, bailiff of the aforesaid manor, or two of them, to enquire concerning the customs by the oaths of the freemen and bonds of that manor and of all the towns pertaining to it, in the presence of those whom the matter concerns; by which inquisition it was found that in the times of the earls of Albemarle and lords of Holdernesse, and in times past a custom was always used in the manor and the towns pertaining to it that when a tenant in bondage died, his wife, if she survived, should hold for life her husband's tenements in bondage without paying any fine or relief after her husband's death, and if she took a second husband, and afterwards died, the heirs of her first husband ought to be admitted to make fine for their ancestors' tenement, and that the second husband ought to be amoved from the tenements after his wife's death; and afterwards, because certain of the bonds and second husbands appeared before the king and asserted that they have long held their tenements in the manor in bondage by the other custom, and that there are more in the manor who hold by the same custom as they do than hold by the custom found by the above inquisition, the king, wishing to be certified what number of bonds hold by one custom and what by the other, and if the second husbands holding the first husband's tenements after the death of their wives hold them * by default or negligence of the heirs of the first husband, to wit for the reason that the heirs were unable to do the services therefor due, or that they did not demand the land after the wives' deaths, or otherwise, and if such heirs being so unable or negligent ought to be afterwards admitted to make fine for the tenements held by the second husbands through their default or negligence, or if the second husbands ought to hold them for life, and how many second husbands thus hold by default or negligence of the heirs, ordered the aforesaid John, Robert, and Walter to enquire concerning these points; by which inquisition it was found that there are more in the manor holding by the custom found by the first inquisition than by the other, and that the heirs of the first husbands ought to be admitted to make fine for their ancestors' tenements after the death of the wives so married to second husbands, if they came soon (recenter) after the death of the wives, and if they were able to do the services, otherwise they were not to be admitted to make fine; the king, considering by himself and his council that it is more reasonable and expedient that the custom for the heirs of the first husband should be observed at his will, orders the bailiff to observe that custom henceforth in the manor, unless ordered otherwise by the king. To the same. Order to call before him such of the king's council as he shall think fit, and to inform himself concerning the arrest of Richard de Burgo, earl of Ulster, and to cause the aforesaid earl to come to the king in England under safe custody with all speed, as the king has long wished that the earl should come to him, and the earl has frequently prayed that he might come, and to certify the king of the cause of the earl's arrest and of the advice of the justiciary and others of the king's council in those parts. Order to allow to the aforesaid Bartholomew 10*l.*, which the king ordered him to pay to Robert de Grendon, late sheriff of the aforesaid lands, out of the issues of those lands, the king having granted that sum to Robert in response to his petition before the king and his council, setting out that, whilst he was sheriff of the said lands before and after the death of the late earl, he had resided there continuously up to the Assumption, and that he had expended 20*l.* of his own money for the king's advantage in recalling to the king's peace the Welsh who had begun to war against the English.

To the same. Order to allow to the aforesaid Bartholomew 20 marks, which the king granted to Leysandus de Avene, and ordered Bartholomew to pay him out of the issues of those lands, in response to Leysandus's petition before the king and his council, setting out that he had expended 40 marks of his own money about the preservation of the king's peace and allaying tumults of the Welsh in the land of Morgannou, and about the defence of the castle of Kenefez.

June 26. Woodstock. To Master John Walewayn, escheator this side Trent. Order to desist from demanding any issues from James de Cusancia, whom the prior of Lewes has appointed prior of Priterwelle, by reason of the late voidance of the priory, as James complains that he is doing, because it appears by the rolls of the late king's chancery that he ordered Walter de Gloucestre, then escheator this side Trent, not to molest John de Monte Martini, then prior, by reason of any issues of the priory during the late voidance, as it was found by inquisition taken by Walter that upon each voidance of the priory the late king's escheator was wont to go to the priory, and to take a seisin there in the name of the king's lordship, and to depute a gatekeeper at the priory gate for the indemnity of the convent, and that the escheator and gatekeeper left the priory without taking anything so soon as the prior elect brought the king's letters for his admission to the escheator, and because it was found by the rolls of the exchequer that nothing had been answered to him or his progenitors for any issues of the priory upon any voidance.

Order to deliver to the executors of the will of Guy de Bello Campo, earl of Warwick, two thirds of the manor of Dalton, which was held of the earl by Henry de Percy as of the castle aforesaid, and the issues received therefrom by the said keeper, as the king was informed by the executors that Henry de Percy held the said manor in his lifetime by knight service as of the aforesaid castle, which is now in the king's hands on account of the minority of the earl's heir, and that the earl entered the manor after Henry's death, because his heir was under age, and assigned a third thereof in dower to Eleanor, late the wife of Henry, and held the other two parts in name of wardship up to his death, and that John le Ireys, to whom the king, after the earl's death, committed the custody of the castle and lands pertaining to it, the custody thereof having come to the king's hands on account of the minority of the earl's heir, seised the said two parts into the king's hands as if the earl had died seised thereof in his demesne as of fee, and retained it all the time during which he had the custody of the castle, and the present keeper detains the same from the executors in like manner; whereupon the king ordered the present keeper to cause inquisition to be made concerning the above; by which the king learns that Henry de Percy held the manor of the earl as of the castle aforesaid by the service of a third of a knight's fee and by homage, and by doing suit of the earl's court of Gaynesford, and that the earl entered the manor in the name of custody after Henry's death on account of the minority of his heir, and that he assigned a third thereof to the aforesaid Eleanor in dower, and that he held the other two parts for a year and a half before his death in name of wardship, and that he died seised thereof in form aforesaid; and that after his death the aforesaid John, who had the custody of the castle, unjustly seised the said two parts into the king's hands, together with the other lands of the earl, and detained them from the executors all the time during which he had the custody, to wit from Thursday after the Assumption, in the ninth year of the king's reign, until the octaves of St. Martin next following, and that William Druvell, then the king's receiver of the aforesaid castle, received the issues of the two parts for that Martinmas term to the value of 10*l.*, and that after John left the custody, John de Castro, keeper of the same castle, likewise detained the two parts from the executors from the said octaves until Christmas following, but that he received nothing therefrom during that time, and that the present keeper of the castle still detains the two parts, and that he has received the issues thereof for his time, to wit from Christmas aforesaid until now, to the value of 30*l.*, and that the two parts are worth 20*l.* yearly in all issues.

June 29. Woodstock. To Master John Waleweyn, John de Bousser, and John de Wengrave, or two of them. Order to send to the king by the octaves of Michaelmas anything they may have attempted by virtue of their appointment as justices to enquire by a jury of the county of Hertford the truth concerning a conspiracy that John Makary alleged to the king that brother Richard de Hertford, abbot of Waltham Holy Cross, brother Gilbert Bursty of Waltham St. Laurence, brother John de Sancto Albano, brother Stephen de Norfolk, the abbot's fellow canons, brother Richard de Elynton, lay brother (conversus) of that house, and John de Tonebrigg made between them at Stansted Abbots, whereby they maliciously procured the said John Makary to be appealed at Waltham Holy Cross by William Chaunterel, the king's approver lately imprisoned at Waltham Holy Cross, for divers felonies and robberies in the counties of Essex and Hertford, and caused him to be arrested and imprisoned at Waltham until he was acquitted thereof before William de Goldington and his fellows, the king's justices to deliver that gaol, and to send at the same time the original writ and all things touching the matter, and not to intermeddle further with the same. The king has ordered the sheriff of that county to cause the king's writ to him, if still in his possession, to be before the king at the above date, and to summon John Makary to be there to prosecute his plea. The king is unwilling that such conspiracy, in which no trespass of the king's peace is alleged, shall be heard elsewhere than before him or his justices of the Bench, according to the statute of conspiracies. By p.s. [428 l.]

July 17. Westminster. To the sheriff of Somerset. Whereas the king lately, by writ of judgment witnessed by Roger le Brabanzon, then chief justice to hold pleas before the king, ordered the sheriff of Gloucester to arrest John le Taverner, Richard Colpel, William de Clif, Robert Martyn, William Snowe, and John Simenel, outlawed at the king's suit for the death of Alexander de Vilers, whether found within the liberty of the town of Bristol or without, so that he should have their bodies before the king in fifteen days from Martinmas last; at which day he returned that he had been to Bristol to arrest the above-named persons, and that he found them in the guildhall of Bristol, and that they and Robert de Wyldemersh, who called himself bailiff of that town, and the community of the town would not permit the attachment to be made, but hindered it wholly; wherefore the king ordered the sheriff not to omit on account of the liberty of that town, or any other liberty of his county, to arrest the above-named persons and the aforesaid Richard de Wildemersh and all others of the community who hindered him as above stated, and to have their bodies before the king in the octaves of the Holy Trinity last past, taking with him for this purpose the posse of his county; to which the sheriff returned that he went in person to Bristol, and that he caused all the community of the same to be assembled in the guildhall, and that, after he had explained the tenor of the king's order to them, they unanimously answered that they would not permit the aforesaid John le Taverner or Robert de Wyldemersh or any other person of that town to be attached or taken away thence, and they hindered the sheriff from executing the king's order by force and arms; whereupon the sheriff attached by word and imposition of hands Henry le Shipman and many others of that town who hindered him, but the persons so attached broke the attachment by force and arms; wherefore the sheriff, taking with him a great posse of the county, afterwards went to the town to execute the king's order, and he found the gates of the town closed against him, and the whole community raised in war against the king, having associated with them a multitude of malefactors from Bayonne and Wales, and that the community drained (assewiaverunt) and wholly dried up the ditch of the king's castle there, and broke and destroyed the king's mill of the castle, and made a ditch in that town before the castle gate of the breadth and depth of 24 feet, and strengthened the ditch with a strong peel (pela), and constructed there and elsewhere in the city bretasches (bretachia), chains, springalds (springalda), and other engines to attack and approach the castle, so that no person in the castle could leave the castle towards the town in any way, retaining the town against the king and preparing other things in express rebellion against him with banners raised; the king, wishing to have further information concerning these actions and to recall the community to obedience by gentle means, has caused Aymer de Valencia, earl of Pembroke, William Inge, John de Insula, and John de Mutford to be sent to Bristol to inform themselves fully concerning the premises, and to induce the community to obey the king as they should do, and, if the community should remain in rebellion, to ordain, in the king's name and by his authority, ways and means to punish the community, as contained in the king's letters patent to the aforesaid William and John de Insula and John de Mutford; and although they and the earl went to that town and endeavoured to induce the community to obey the king by gentle ways and means offered by them to the community on the king's behalf, the community wholly refused to obey the king in the premises; whereupon the earl, with the counsel of the said William and John de Insula, according to the power granted to them by the aforesaid letters, enjoined the sheriff of Somerset to cause proclamation to be made forbidding any one to communicate with any of the said community, or to sell, lend, or minister to them victuals or other necessaries, and to arrest any whom he should find infringing this prohibition, as the earl has signified to the king by his letters, and the said William and John de Insula have explained to the king by word of mouth upon their return; the king, approving the action of the earl and William and John de Insula, orders the sheriff to execute everything ordered by the earl on the king's behalf. July 8. Buckby. To the sheriff of Huntingdon. Whereas, at the complaint of the king's merchants Gilbert Robert, burgess of Ipswich, Richard Salvayn of Graham, Richard de Clopton of Graham, and Nicholas de Walsokene that they lately engaged (frettasse) a ship at Ipswich to carry 29 serplers of wool thence to Le Swyn in Flanders in order to trade there with the same, and caused her to be laden with the said wool, Ar[nald] de Stanbergh and Peter his brother, with other malefactors of the power of the duke of Brabant, on Sunday before Midsummer, in the eighth year of the king's reign, entered the said ship by force and arms on the sea coast near Neuport in Flanders, and took her and her cargo to the value of 400*l.* to Stonbergh within the aforesaid duke's power, and carried away the wool and other goods in the ship and 10*l.* sterling, the king frequently requested the duke to cause restitution and satisfaction to be made to the said merchants; but the duke and his councillors have done nothing in the matter, as appears by the letters patent of the bailiff and community of Ipswich; wherefore the king ordered the sheriff to arrest all goods and wares of the merchants of the duke's power, except victuals, to the value of 200*l.*, in part satisfaction for the above 410*l.*; by virtue of which order the sheriff arrested goods to the value of 200*l.*, to wit cloth of John de Calstere of Louvain to the value of 150*l.*, cloth of Dederik (Detherici) Veyne of Andewerp to the value of 10*l.*; cloth of Bartholomew de Houthemerk of Deste and Henry Bethekyn of Deste to the value of 40*l.*; which goods the king orders him to cause to be appraised and sold in the presence of the said merchants of Louvaine and Andewerp or their attornies, and to deliver the cloths or their value to the aforesaid Gilbert, Richard, Richard, and Nicholas, in part satisfaction of the said sum of 410*l.*

Order not to intermeddle further with a messuage, 5 virgates of land, and 6 acres of meadow in Avynton, taken into the king's hands upon the death of William Blundel by John Abel, then escheator this side Trent, under the pretext that the prior and convent of St. Swithin's Winchester had acquired them after the publication of the statute of mortmain, by reason of an inquisition taken by him, whereby it was found that William held the premises at his death freely and not in villeinage, by reason of which arrest the king committed the custody thereof to Roger de Gretford, as it appears by inquisition taken by John Randolf and James de Norton, whom the king appointed, at the request of the prior and convent, to make such inquisition, that the aforesaid William held the premises at his death in villeinage of the prior and convent of their demesnes, and not freely. July 13. Leicester. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demand made by them upon Clemencia, late the wife of John de Vescy, son of William de Vescy, for William's relief and for his other debts, as she complains that the sheriff of Leicester distrains her for the same in the manor of Stapelford, which she holds in dower, the late king having, in consideration of the grant and surrender to him by William de Vescy of the castle, manor, and county of Kildare, with all appurtenances and liberties, and in consideration of his grant to him of the manor of Sprouston (of which manor the aforesaid Clemencia holds two parts, and Isabella, late the wife of John de Vescy, brother of the said William, holds a third part in dower), pardoned the said William by his letters patent all debts due from him, as well for fines and amercements and other his debts as for the debts of John de Vescy his brother, and of other his ancestors from what cause soever.

To Master John Walewayn, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the manor of Sibertoft, co. Northampton, which is held in chief of the king, and which was taken into the king's hands upon the death of Roger le Brabanzon, at it appears by inquisition that Roger granted by the king's licence the manor to Thomas son of William Curzon of Crouxhale, and Thomas was seised of the same on Sunday the feast of St. Barnabas last by virtue of this grant, and that he continued his seisin thereof until Tuesday following, on which day Roger died, by which inquisition it was found that the manor is held of the king in chief by the service of finding one footman in the king's army for forty days at the cost of the manor.

July 23. Nottingham. To John Randolf and Thomas de Chaucombe, justices appointed to deliver the gaol of Old Sarum. Order to cause to be amended what they have done in confiscating the chattels of Henry Sturmy and Stephen Sturmy, and imprisoning their mainpernors, and to restore their chattels and release their mainpernors, as the king learns from the complaint of the said Henry and Stephen, who were indicted before Walter de Pavely and the aforesaid Thomas, keepers of the peace in the county of Wilts, that, although the sheriff of that county has received from Henry and Stephen sufficient mainprise for their appearance before John de Bello Campo of Somersete and his fellows, whom the king appointed to hear and determine felonies and trespasses in that county, at the next gaol-delivery to stand to right before them, the said John Randolf and Thomas de Chaucombe have caused the mainpernors to be arrested and imprisoned until Henry and Stephen should appear, and have caused the chattels of Henry and Stephen to be confiscated as chattels of fugitives, although they ought to appear before the said John de Bello Campo and his fellows, and not before them, which steps they have taken because the names of Henry and Stephen were delivered to them by the sheriff with the names of those indicted before the said keepers, no mention being made of the form of the mainprise.

July 22. Nottingham. To Master John Walewayn, escheator beyond Trent. They are to cause the aforesaid Robert de Cotesgrave to be charged with the victuals in question.

Feb. 12. Windsor. To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with the purparties of Edmund de Somervill and Alfred de Sulny of the manor of Orreby, and to deliver to them any issues received from their purparties, as it appears by inquisition taken by the escheator that John de Orreby held nothing at his death in chief as of the crown, but that he held the aforesaid manor of Henry de Bello Monte by knight service, and that the manor was, after his death, divided between Robert de Wylughby, now deceased, and the above Edmund and Alfred, his co-heirs and parceners, to wit so that Edmund should have a moiety of the manor of Orreby except 83 acres of meadow, and that Robert should have the other moiety except 100*s.* of yearly rent from the bonds (bondorum) in the manor, in their purparties of the inheritance of John de Orreby, and that Alfred should have the aforesaid 83 acres of meadow and 100*s.* of rent together with other lands of the said John in Wolingham, co. Feb. 18. Sheen. To the same. Order to deliver to Margaret, late the wife of Richard de Polhampton, the manors of Balletteston, co. Berks, and of Fallele, together with the issues of the same, as it appears by inquisition taken by the escheator that Richard acquired the manors long before his death by the king's licence, to have the manor of Balletteston to himself and Margaret and Thomas their son, and to have the manor of Fallele to himself and Margaret and Richard their son, by which inquisition it was found that the manors are held in chief, the king having taken Margaret's fealty for the same.

Feb. 18. Sheen. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to Warin de Insula, constable of Wyndesore castle, his wages for the custody of the castle in his account of the issues of his bailiwick, as they used to be allowed to Geoffrey de Pychford, late constable of that castle.

Feb. 23. Windsor. To Henry le Scrop and his fellows, justices to hold pleas before the king. Order to replace the prior of St. Frideswide's Oxford in the same state as he was when they considered that he should take nothing by his petition in parliament at Westminster, wherein he prayed the king to cause justice to be done to him concerning the church of Acleye, with the chapels of Brehull, Borstall, and Edyngrave pertaining thereto, which church the empress Matilda, sometime queen of England, gave to that house by charter, in whose possession it continued for a long time, which church William son of Richard, late a clerk of Henry III., occupied in a time of voidance of the priory, and which is still detained from the prior, the justices having made this consideration because brother Walter de Sutton, a fellow canon of the prior and his attorney in this behalf, who sued against William de Ayremynne, keeper of the rolls of chancery, to have scrutiny of the said rolls, did not appear before the king on a certain day to prosecute the aforesaid petition, the king having sent the petition to William Inge and his fellows, then justices to hold pleas before him, whom he ordered to examine the same and to bring the matter to a final issue, provided that they did not proceed to render judgment therein before they had certified the king concerning the matter; under which pretext the said Henry and his fellows ordered the rolls of chancery of Henry III. and other the king's progenitors to be searched and the memoranda therein concerning this matter to be sent to the king; the king now learning from the prior that the said Henry and his fellows considered, pending the search, that he should take nothing by his petition, as above stated. They are ordered to proceed in the said matter, notwithstanding their aforesaid consideration, and to bring the matter to a final issue, according to the tenor of the king's mandate abovesaid, William de Ayremynne having certified that Walter sued against him for the search at the time of the consideration. By C.

Feb. 24. Sheen. To the same. Feb. 20. Sheen. To the same. Order to deliver to John Fraunceys certain lands in Ailbrighton taken into the king's hands upon the death of John Tropyn, together with the issues of the same, as it appears by inquisition taken by the escheator that John Tropyn held nothing in chief of the king at his death, but that he held certain lands in Ailbrighton of the heir of John Abadam, tenant in chief, a minor in the king's wardship, by the service of a tenth of a knight's fee and of 2*d.* yearly rent and suit at the heir's court twice in the year, and that John Tropyn died on 3 May last, and that Thomas, his brother and heir, then of full age, entered the lands aforesaid after John's death, and peacefully continued his seisin for six weeks and more, and that Thomas, during his seisin, granted the lands to the aforesaid John Fraunceys, and that John Fraunceys was seised thereof by virtue of that grant, and that he continued his seisin for 17 weeks and more, until the escheator took the lands into the king's hands by reason of John Tropyn's death; the king having taken the fealty of John Fraunceys.

By C.—Gloucester.

To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with the hamlet of Croft, as it appears by inquisition taken by him that Hugh de Croft held nothing at his death of the heir of Nicholas Daudele, tenant in chief, a minor in the king's wardship, but that he held the said hamlet of Peter de Lymeseye by knight service, and it does not appear that Hugh held any other lands in chief at his death by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king.

March 1. Westminster. To the sheriff of Norfolk. Order to restore ship laden with wool, hides and other merchandise of merchants of Flanders, lately arrested on her voyage from Scotland to Flanders on the sea coast near Blakeneye, although it appears by inquisition taken by him by the king's order that the merchants and mariners of the same are pirates, robbers, and homicides, and it appears by the letters of the coket touching certain goods in the ship that certain of the goods specified therein were loaded at Aberden among the Scotch rebels, so that the king could aggrieve the merchants and mariners in their bodies and goods, as R. count of Flanders has besought the king for the said merchants, the king issuing this order on that account and in order to cherish peace and tranquillity, as well as for the common advantage that may arise out of the mutual communion of his and the count's subjects. The king has caused the bodies of the said merchants and mariners to be released of his especial grace before him and his council. By K.

Feb. 28. Westminster. To the sheriff of Essex. Order to pay to Nicholas de Blakeden 22*l.* 18*s.* 1*d.*, which the king owes him for wheat bought from him by Peter Ingelard for the expenses of the king's household in the fourth year of his reign, as contained in a bill of the wardrobe in the possession of Nicholas. Order to permit certain inhabitants and merchants of certain towns of the duchy of Aquitaine to receive a moiety of the issues of the custom in that port, as they have been wont to do since the king assigned a moiety thereof to them until they should be satisfied for debts due to them from the late king.

Membrane 9.

March 3. Westminster. To Master John Walewayn, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver to Clement de Morton a messuage and two virgates of land in Boklond, which were taken into the king's hands because he acquired them for his life from John de Lenham, who held them of the king in chief, and entered the same without the king's licence, and to restore the issues received thence, as it appears by inquisition taken by the escheator that it would not be to the damage of the king or any one else if he granted that Clement might hold the premises for life, and that he ought to pay 20*s.* yearly to John and his heirs for the same, and that they are not worth more than that sum, so that if John died before Clement, leaving an heir in the king's wardship, there would be no decrease thereof to the king or his heirs.

March 3. Westminster. To the same. Like order to deliver to Peter Caperoun and Agatha his wife two messuages and three virgates of land in Bollond (sic), taken into the king's hands because they acquired them for life from the aforesaid John, etc., as above.

March 1. Westminster. To Hugh Daudele, the elder. Order not to intermeddle further with the towns of Multon, Chestrok and Aston in the Marches of Wales, and to restore the issues received therefrom since 24 July last to Master Adam de Orleton, whom the pope has created bishop of Hereford, on which day the king took his fealty for the temporalities of the bishopric, and ordered Robert Broun, then keeper of the bishopric, to restore the temporalities, and also ordered Master John Walewayn, escheator this side Trent, to restore what was in his hands belonging to the bishopric, as the king was afterwards given to understand, on the bishop's behalf and from the escheator, that the aforesaid towns, which belonged to the bishopric, were taken into the king's hands after the death of Richard, the late bishop, amongst other temporalities of the bishopric, as pertaining to the bishop's manor of Bishops Castle, and that thereupon the aforesaid Hugh occupied the said towns, and that he still occupies them, and does not permit the escheator or his sub-escheator in those parts to intermeddle with the said towns; whereupon the king caused an inquisition to be made concerning the late bishop's estate therein; whereby it was found that the late bishop died seised of the said three towns as of the right of his church of St. Ethelbert, Hereford, and in no other wise, and that he and all his predecessors were seised thereof from time out of mind as of the right of their church aforesaid. The king has ordered the escheator to resume the said towns into his hands, and to deliver them without delay to the bishop. By C.

Norfolk, and the advowson of the church of Causton, which manors the earl held of the king's commission to him and the heirs of his body, the king having now assigned the above to Matilda as her dower at her petition, the king having previously assigned to her the manor of Fakenhamdam, of the yearly value of 57*l.* 16*s.* 1¾*d.* and 65*s.* 1*d.* of yearly rent from the tenants of the manor of Causton, and the advowson of the church of Causton, as her dower of the aforesaid manors and of the advowsons of Causton, Fakenhamdam, and Podyngnorton, which the earl held as above, but which the king afterwards ordered to be restored to David de Strabolgy, earl of Athole, because he had granted them to him under a certain form, and because Matilda was then pregnant, believing that she would bear a child, and that the custody of the earl's lands would long remain in his hands; whereupon he assigned to her in recompence the manor of Honeden, co. Suffolk, and the advowson of the church of Donemowe, co. Essex, of the earl's inheritance and then in his hands; and the king afterwards took the homage of Hugh le Despenser the younger, who married Eleanor, the eldest sister and co-heiress of the earl, and the fealties of Hugh Daudele the younger, who married Margaret, the second sister and co-heiress, and of Roger Damory, who married Elizabeth, the third sister and co-heiress, for all the earl's lands, when he restored to them the aforesaid manor of Honeden and the advowson of the church of Donemowe with the other lands of the earl; whereupon the said Matilda prayed the king to do her justice for her former dower; whereupon the king ordered the aforesaid escheator to summon the said David to appear in chancery on Friday after St. Nicholas last past, to shew cause why the aforesaid manor of Fakenhamdom (sic) and the rent of 65*s.* 1*d.*, and the advowson of Causton should not be restored to the countess as her dower, on which day David did not appear; wherefore the king has assigned to her a third of the aforesaid manors and advowson. March 19. Westminster. To the chancellor of the university of Oxford. Order to desist wholly from aggrieving the friars of the order of Preachers at Oxford, as they have complained to the king that the chancellor, on account of dissensions between him and the scholars of the university, on the one side, and the friars on the other, endeavours to exercise [jurisdiction] over their persons, threatening to imprison them and to treat them contrary to the privileges of their order, although they are wholly exempt from secular jurisdiction not only by their order but also by apostolic privileges.

Feb. 13. Windsor. To R. bishop of London. Request that he will ordain for the parish church of St. Dunstan 'West' in the suburbs of London as shall seem good for the church and the souls of the parish, remembering that the right of patronage remains to the king and his heirs, as the king is given to understand that it was found in his visitation of the city and diocese of London that the church and its fruits were assigned, with other things, by Henry III., patron thereof, for the maintenance of the Jewish converts to Christianity, for whom the said king ordained a place of residence within the parish, and caused a chapel to be constructed within the said place in honour of St. Mary, and for the maintenance of chaplains and clerks serving in the same, and willed that a keeper should be appointed by him (per ipsos) and his heirs to deliver to them what was assigned for their maintenance and that of the chaplains and clerks aforesaid, and did not will that the cure of the said church should remain with the keeper of the said converts or another according to canonical sanction. tion to the fact that the abbey of Westminster and all its cells and priories are subjected only to the Roman court, and are from old time free and by apostolic privileges exempt from all ordinary episcopal jurisdiction, Godfrey, late bishop of Worcester, having confessed, for himself and his successors, that the aforesaid priory and the monks thereof are exempt from all jurisdiction of the bishop and of the ordinary, and from making obedience to the bishop, and that they ought to be subjected to the abbot and convent of Westminster, excepting the parish churches, portions and ecclesiastical pensions appropriated to the priory, the said Godfrey having considered the privileges of divers pontiffs of Rome made to the said abbot and convent after he had endeavoured to exercise ordinary jurisdiction in the aforesaid cell of Malvern: by reason of which prohibition the prior of Worcester superseded the execution of the office of spiritualities then incumbent upon him; wherefore he prayed the king to cause a remedy to be exhibited to him, in response to which the king makes this order, being unwilling that what pertains to ecclesiastical jurisdiction should be impeded by his writs. April 4. Westminster. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of Southampton. April 14. Windsor. To R. count of Flanders. Whereas lately, because it was found by an inquisition taken by the sheriff of Kent that John Crabbe and other malefactors of the count's land took by force a ship called 'bona navis de la Strode,' whereof John Sprynger was master, together with the chests, beds, and other small things of the said John, which were valued by the jurors of the inquisition at 210 marks sterling, at Les Dunes on the sea coast near the Isle of Thanet, whilst on her voyage to London, and carried the same away to Flanders, the king requested the count to cause restitution or satisfaction for the above to be made to the said John Sprynger; and the count replied that he was ignorant of the premises, as he was not informed of the deed aforesaid or of the names of those who committed it, adding that he would punish the culprits [if] found within places subject to his jurisdiction; at which reply the king is astonished, because John Crabbe, the principal culprit, is well-known to be of the count's land of Flanders, and dwells therein when he wills, and it is moreover testified before the king that in the aforesaid ship there were wines of certain of the king's merchants of Gascony, which were also taken and carried away by the said malefactors, and which came to the count's profit (commodum), and that the count gave the ship to the lord of Meldyngham: wherefore the king requests him to cause restitution or satisfaction to be made without further delay to the said John Springer, together with compensation for his damages, lest it behove the king to provide him with another remedy. Feb. 14. Windsor. To the same. Whereas lately, at the complaint of Gilbert de Mordon, Henry Gubbe, and Stephen de Crey, citizens and merchants of London, that they caused a ship of theirs to be laden with fish, lead, oil, and other goods and wares bought at Lenne to the value of 300*l.*, in order to bring the same to London, and that certain malefactors of Flanders assaulted with force and arms the men in the said ship on the sea-coast near Crowemere, co. Norfolk, and took the goods aforesaid, and divided the same amongst them, and carried them to Flanders, as appears by the letters testimonial of the mayor and community of the city of London under their common seal, the king requested the count to cause satisfaction or restitution therefor to be made to the aforesaid merchants; to which the count replied that he was ignorant of the premises as he was not informed of the deed aforesaid nor of the names of those who committed it, adding that he would punish the culprits if found within places subject to his jurisdiction; and now, in addition to the testimony of the mayor and community aforesaid, it is testified before the king that the trespass was committed at the aforesaid place by malefactors of the count's land, and that the malefactors, shortly before the perpetration of this trespass, lay near the king's land (ad terram nostram se ponentes), and committed homicides there, and afterwards perpetrated the above trespass, the men of those parts standing and seeing them, and having full knowledge that they were from the count's power, and the goods aforesaid were seen and recognised by merchants of this realm in the hands of the said malefactors at Le Sluce within the count's power; wherefore the king requests the count to cause restitution or satisfaction to be made without delay to the said merchants, together with compensation for their damages, lest it behove the king to provide them with another remedy. He is requested to write back, etc., as above.

April 20. Windsor. To J. duke of Brabant, the king's nephew. The king has received complaint from Henry de la Porte, merchant of Norhampton, that, although John Wylet, merchant of Malyns, is bound to him in 74*l.* 8*s.* 7*d.* for merchandise bought from him, and John was arrested at his suit for the debt in the town of Andwertz, within the duke's power, according to the liberties and customs granted and used in that town for the merchants of England, and was delivered to Gerard Ekene, schultheiss (scoutett') and bailiff of that town, to be kept until he had satisfied Henry for the said debt, the said Gerard nevertheless allowed John to go from his custody before he had satisfied Henry; wherefore the king requests the duke to call before him the said Gerard and others who should be called before him, and to cause speedy justice to be done to Henry in the recovery of his debt, so that it may not behove the king to provide him with another remedy. He is requested to write back by the bearer an account of his proceedings herein.

Order to pay to Master John Wylemyn, the king's yeoman, 37*l.* 14*s.* 1*d.*, due to him from the late king, as appears by a bill of his wardrobe restored to the exchequer by John, the king having delivered to him letters patent testifying that the king has received this sum from the archbishop in part payment of the money in the archdeaconry of Notyngham of the first year of the tenth for six years imposed by Clement V. in the council of Vienne, which letters the archbishop is to receive from him in exchange for the money.

May 20. Westminster. To the barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to Alice Gerberge, late the wife of Master John Gerberge, and Alexander de Halghton, executors of the will of the said John, the following sums, which the late king ordered the barons of his exchequer by writ of allowance, dated 28 June, in the 35th year of his reign, to allow to the said John, his sheriff of Wilts: 15*l.* 19*s.* 0*d.* for his expenses by the late king's orders about the felling of 30 oaks in the forest of Bocholte and carriage of the same to Ambresbury for the use of Mary, the late king's daughter, a nun of Fontevrault dwelling at Ambresbury, in the 33rd year of his reign, and about the felling and carriage of the like number in the 34th year of his reign, the late king having granted to his daughter that number of oaks yearly for firewood for her chamber whilst staying at Ambresbury, to be received yearly from the sheriff of Wilts; 154*l.* 19*s.* 9*d.* for the repair by the late king's order of the hall of his castle of Lotegareshale and of the chamber called 'Edward's chamber' in the same castle, and of the chapel and great tower of Sarum castle, from 30 August, in the 33rd year of his reign, until 11 October, in the 34th year, by the view and testimony of William de Lokford and Gilbert le Mazon, viewers of the works there; 4*l.* 7*s.* 10*d.* paid by the late king's order to Robert Reynfu, a Scot captured at Stryvelyn in Scotland and imprisoned in the castle of Old Sarum, for his wages from the morrow of Easter, to wit 19 April, in the 33rd year of the reign, until Michaelmas then next following, for 164 days, the last day being counted, at the rate of 2*d.* daily; 24*s.* paid by the late king's order to four carters for the maintenance of themselves and six horses for two carts provided for the late king's use in co. Wilts by William de Cotes, the late king's clerk, for the carriage of victuals and other necessaries for the late king's maintenance in Scotland from Malmesbury to Carlisle by twelve days' journey (dietas), to be delivered at Carlisle to James de Dalilegh, then receiver of the late king's victuals, in the 34th year of his reign, to wit to two men with three horses 12*d.* a day; 40*s.* 5*d.* paid by the late king's order for the expenses of horsemen and footmen and the hire of horses for the abbot of Scone in Scotland, the king's enemy, whom the said John received, on 26 August, in the 34th year of the late king's reign, from Richard de Whitacre, late sheriff of Leicester, at Winchester, to be taken to prison in the castle of Mere, and for the wages of the abbot, a chaplain, and a groom serving the abbot from the above day until Michaelmas following, for 35 days, both days being included, to wit 4*d.* a day to the abbot, 1½*d.* a day to the chaplain, and 1½*d.* a day to the groom: the executors having shewn to the king that the barons refuse to make these allowances because the writs of precept ordering the above payments, which the said writ of allowance ordered them to receive from John, have been lost by mischance, so that the executors could not deliver them to the exchequer. The king makes this order because it is not likely that the bill by which the late king's writ of allowance was made would have proceeded from the exchequer unless the writs of precept had been seen and examined there.

May 26. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge Robert de Multon, the king's clerk, of 6*s.* 8*d.* yearly, which he was charged to render yearly for the custody of the body of John Gocelyn of Weston, an idiot, and of his lands in Weston and Spaldyng', which were in the king's hands on account of his madness, the king having granted him the custody thereof on 4 July, in the 9th year of his reign, the lands being of the yearly value of 10*s.*, as appears by the inquisition taken by Master John Walewayn, escheator this side Trent, on condition that he maintained the said John out of the same, from 24 November, in the 10th year of the reign, when the king caused his hand to be amoved because it was found by inquisition taken by the said escheator that a messuage, 11 acres of land, and 3 acres of pasture in Spaldyng' and Weston came to the king's hands by reason of John's madness, and that they were held of others than the king, and that William son of John Goscelyn of Weston was the brother and nearest heir of the above John and was of full age and sane mind.

May 24. Westminster. To Robert de Sapy, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands of Roger de Clutherum, deceased, and to restore the issues, as it appears by inquisition taken by the escheator that he held nothing in chief at his death by reason whereof the custody of his lands ought to pertain to the king.

June 6. Westminster. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of Hertilpole. Order to pay to Richard de Horsle 40*l.*, which the king owes him for the wages of himself and his men-at-arms and hobelers staying at the king's wages in the company of Robert de Humframvill, earl of Angus (Danegos), for the custody of the castles of Hirbotel and Prudhou, for the time between 1 January, in the 9th year of the king's reign, and 31 December, in the 10th year, as appears by a bill under the seal of Henry de Hale, late cofferer of the king's wardrobe.

Salop, the township of Newport (Novus Burgus), in the same county, the manor of Forde, in the same county, certain tenements without Aldrichgate, London, 6½ acres of land in Melyndressathney in the commote of Perveth in Wales, a garden in Methevey, a moiety of an acre near Lanveyr, 4*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* of yearly rent from 94 free tenants of a part of the said commote called 'Meynor Methevey,' 106*s.* 8*d.* of yearly rent in Methevey from 53 free tenants of part of the said commote called 'Lanadesant,' 40*s.* from the free tenants of Maynor Methevey from serjeanties, which the king, on 24 January, in the 10th year of his reign, assigned to her as dower of her husband's lands, and to restore to her the issues thereof from 13 February then next following, when the king caused the premises to be resumed into his hands, as the king, being more fully informed concerning the causes for which he ordered the resumption into his hands, has restored the premises to her. By p.s. [4724.]

June 6. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to examine the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, and to allow the collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells at Newcastle-on-Tyne such wages as they shall find to have been previously paid for the office of tronage of wool and controller of the custom in that town, which the king granted, on 6 October, in the 8th year of his reign, to Gilbert Hankyn, clerk, during pleasure, receiving the same wages as others had been wont to have for that office, when the king ordered the collectors of the custom in that town to deliver the said office to Gilbert with all things pertaining thereto, and having afterwards, on 16 December, in the 9th year, upon Gilbert's complaint that the collectors delayed paying him the wages due for the office, ordered the collectors to pay Gilbert the arrears of the wages from 6 October aforesaid at the same rate as was usually paid to others for that office, and to continue to pay the same. If they cannot find from their inspection what wages were wont to be paid, they are then to cause fitting wages to be allowed at their discretion to the collectors.

June 4. Westminster. To the same. Order to cause payment or assignment to be made to Henry Nasard of London, merchant, for 520*l.* 12*s.* 4½*d.* due to him from the king for money to that amount paid into the king's chamber at Berwick-on-Tweed by way of loan, and paid to Gilbert Hankyn and John Skot, burgesses of Newcastle-on-Tyne, Richard de Welleford, citizen and merchant of London, John de Aula, William de Cranthorn, and William de Sprotton, burgesses of Berwick, for divers victuals and garnistures bought from them for the king's use, and for the wages of divers mercenaries (stipendiariorum) in the king's service, and for provisioning the king's towns and castles in Scotland in the first and second years of the king's reign, as appears by the account made before the executors of the will of Eustace de Godesbeche, chamberlain of Scotland, and by a bill of the office of chamberlain delivered by Henry into chancery; for payment whereof the king granted him an assignment upon the issues of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of Berwick-on-Tweed after certain other assignments thereof had been satisfied, the said Henry having now prayed the king to cause satisfaction to be made to him as he has not yet received anything from the issues of the said custom.

June 6. Westminster. To Robert de Sapy, escheator beyond Trent. Order to cause Gilbert de Aton, kinsman and heir of William de Vescy the elder, to have seisin of the manor of Malton, and to deliver to him the issues thereof since 7 November last, when the king took his homage for the lands that William de Vescy of Kildare held in chief at his death, which ought to remain to the right heir of the said William the elder, because William de Vescy of Kildare died without an heir, upon which day the king ordered the lands to be delivered to Gilbert, he being now given to understand that the escheator has delayed delivering to Gilbert the said manor, which is of the aforesaid inheritance.

To Joan Comyn. Order not to intermeddle further with the above manor, or with the issues of the same from 7 November aforesaid, the king having lately committed the manor to her.

May 30. Westminster. To Master John Walewayn, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands of Matilda, daughter of Eleanor de Thorneton, and to restore the issues thereof, as it appears by inquisition taken by him that she held nothing in chief at her death by reason whereof the custody of her lands should pertain to the king.

June 4. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge Reginald de Kyngeston, to whom the late king granted for life the bailiwick that William le Wolf, deceased, had in his forest of Selewode, rendering therefor 10*l.* yearly, of the said yearly sum, as Reginald has given the king to understand that the bailiwick is so much reduced (deterioratur) by the perambulation lately made in the forest aforesaid that it is much below the above value, and he has restored the king's letters patent to be cancelled, wherefor the king ordered Ralph de Monte Hermerii, keeper of the Forest this side Trent, to take that bailiwick into his hands.

June 8. Westminster. To Master John Walewayn, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause dower to be assigned to Joan, late the wife of Bertram de Wylmynton, tenant in chief, upon her taking oath not to marry without the king's licence.

June 9. Westminster. To the sheriff of York. Order to cause York castle to be provisioned with necessary victuals. By K.

June 12. Westminster. To the sheriff of Essex. Order to arrest William de Marny, and to keep him in prison until further orders, the king having granted him permission to attend the burial of the body of Roger Fillol, the king's yeoman, at a certain place in that county, on condition that he returned immediately afterwards to the Marshalsea prison, to which he had previously rendered himself on his indictment for breaking the king's park of Hanlegh, as he has not returned and is wandering about in the sheriff's bailiwick. By p.s. [4745.]

June 8. Westminster. To L[ouis], bishop of Durham. Order to release Walter de Gosewyk, burgess of Berwick-on-Tweed, who was arrested within the bishopric by reason of the king's appointment of his clerk James de Broghton to arrest the goods of burgesses of that town in the bishopric and in the county of Northumberland, because the Scots had entered the said town by default of the mayor, bailiffs, and community, to whom the king committed the custody of the town, and to deliver to him his goods, upon his finding mainpernors to have him before the king to answer concerning the above and for the value of his goods. June 11. Westminster. To the sheriffs of London. Whereas lately the following merchants caused a ship of John Priour's called 'la Petite Bayard' of London to be laden in London with wool and other goods as follows, to be carried to Andwerp in Brabant in order to trade there with the same: Simon de Abyndon, with 12 serplers of wool, price 120*l.* sterling; Stephen le Foullere, with 4 serplers of wool, price 40*l.* sterling; Ralph de Walcote, with 12 serplers of wool,

Order to pay to John de Crumbwell, constable of the Tower of London, the arrears of the wages of Hugh de Langeton, who was arrested for divers felonies and trespasses in the county of York and delivered to the constable on 7 March last by the king's order, from 7 March aforesaid, and to continue paying the same so long as Hugh remains in the Tower, to wit 2*d.* a day.

June 15. Westminster. To the sheriff of Sussex. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Richard atte Mersh, whom the king has caused to be amoved because he is incapacitated by illness and infirmity.

June 25. Woodstock. To the sheriffs of London. Whereas Adam Hunteman, citizen of London, lately caused 13 serplers of wool to be taken from England to St. Omer in order to make his profit thereof, John de Fenles caused the wool to be taken from him by certain of his ministers near the town of Gines; wherefore the king frequently requested the said John to cause restitution or satisfaction to be made to Adam and to satisfy him for his damages, lest it should behove the king to provide Adam with another remedy; the said John, although Adam delivered the king's letters to him and diligently sought for justice, did nothing in the matter, as appears by letters patent under the seal of the community of the city of London: wherefore the king orders the sheriffs to arrest goods of men and merchants of the dominion and power of the said John to the value of the wool aforesaid, and to keep the same safely until further orders, certifying the king of their proceedings herein. July 3. Northampton. To the sheriff of Lancaster. Order to cause Robert de Holand to have seisin of the manors of Haghe and Blakerode, as it appears by inquisition taken by the sheriff that William de Bradeshagh, who was outlawed for felony, held them of Robert, and that they have been in the king's hands for a year and a day, and that Peter de Lymesy and Mabel his wife have had the king's year, day, and waste thereof, for which they ought to answer to the king.

June 24. Woodstock. To Robert de Sapy, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the hospital of St. Sepulchre near Hedon, and to restore the issues thereof to the master and brethren, which he took into the king's hands on the ground that it was of the king's foundation by reason of the earldom of Albemarle being in the king's hands, as it appears by inquisition made by him that it is not of the king's foundation nor of the foundation of any of his progenitors, by reason of the earldom aforesaid, but that it is of the foundation of William de la Twyer and his ancestors. [Inq. post Mortem, 11 Edward II., No. 66.]

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow Henry de Wylinghton, steward of Cornwall, 2,000 marks in his account at the exchequer, which sum he has paid by virtue of the king's order to pay that sum to Anthony Pessaign of Genoa or to Robert Usus Maris, his attorney in this behalf, because Anthony had undertaken to pay that sum to Amadeo, count of Savoy, as soon as the count did fealty to the king's envoys to the pope, the king having granted that sum to the count for the arrears of 200 marks yearly granted to him by the late king for his homage done to him for a certain castle of his in Savoy, on condition that he did fealty to the king's said envoys then about to go to the pope and that he came in person to do homage to the king. June 28. Woodstock. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to examine the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer concerning the unpaid balance of 87*l.* 7*s.* 2*d., for the arrears of the account of William du Chastel when he was sheriff of Warwick and Leicester, which is exacted by summons of the exchequer of William son of Gregory du Chastel, as of the heir of the said Gregory, son and heir of the aforesaid William, and to permit the said William son of Gregory to pay off the arrears at the rate of 40*s.* yearly, which terms the king has granted to him. Aug. 21. Lincoln. To Philip, king of France. Whereas John Godwyne of Brugewauter, merchant, sent a ship of his by certain of his servants to Bordeaux in order to carry wines to this realm, and certain merchants of Rouen, then at Bordeaux, engaged the ship from his servants to carry wine and other goods to Rouen, and caused her to be taken [thence] with the wines and goods aforesaid, the duke of Britanny, asserting that he had power, by order of the king of France, to arrest all ships of this realm coming to the realm of the king of France on account of certain trespasses committed, it is said, upon men of the duchy of Britanny by subjects of the king, has caused the said ship and certain wines of John's found in her, to the value of 100*l.* sterling, and certain of John's servants in the same to be arrested at Rouen, although John and his men were guiltless of the aforesaid trespass, as John alleges that he is ready to prove before the king of France; for which John has prayed the king to provide him with a remedy: wherefore the king requests the king of France to order due and speedy justice to be done to John in this behalf concerning the arrest of his goods and servants. To William de Harecourt, lord of Elbeuf (Uleboef). Sept. 12. York. To J. duke of Britanny, or to him who supplies his place. Whereas at the complaint of Henry de Oreford, burgess of Ipswich, that certain malefactors and robbers of Le Conquet (Conqueto) and elsewhere in the duke's power, took his ship called 'La Lyon de Herwiz,' price 200*l.* sterling, laden with divers goods to the value of 200*l.* more, in the Island of Keneveys, and carried her away, and imprisoned the captain (rectorem) and the sailors of the ship, the late king wrote to John, then duke of Britanny, grandfather of the present duke, requesting him to cause justice to be done to Henry, and to release the master and mariners; whereupon the duke released the sailors, but failed to do justice to Henry; wherefore the king gave orders at different times to Guy Ferre and John de Hastinges, his late seneschals of Gascony, that, if they found the aforesaid malefactors or their goods within the duchy of Acquitaine, they should call before them those who ought to be called and should do justice to Henry according to the custom of those parts; and John de Hastinges afterwards, upon the failure of Arthur, late duke of Britanny, father of the present duke, to do justice to Henry, which he was frequently requested to do by the aforesaid seneschals, caused certain goods of men and merchants of the power of duke Arthur to be arrested within the aforesaid duchy, the usual process in such cases having been observed; and the said goods were afterwards released by John, bishop of Norwich, and John de Britannia, earl of Richmond, and certain others sent to the duchy by the king, whereby the execution of the aforesaid arrest and Henry's suit for damages have been much delayed without reasonable cause; the king at length, at the petition of Henry exhibited before him and his council, ordered Gilbert Pecche, now seneschal of Gascony, to cause justice to be done to Henry without further delay; and the seneschal has signified to the king by his letters that he has carefully examined the letters and processes and proofs touching this matter, and that it appeared clearly to him that the damages were inflicted upon Henry by men of Britanny, and that the present duke of Britanny had been frequently requested by his predecessors to cause the damages to be made good to Henry, and that the duke had not done so, and that his men had beaten and grievously (letaliter) wounded Henry whilst prosecuting this matter in Britanny; on account whereof the seneschal, having called a council of skilful persons, granted and decreed that a letter of marque (marcham) sought by Henry should be made against the men of Britanny and their goods until Henry should be satisfied for 1,860*l.* sterling, at which sum the principal damage of Henry and the ensuing damages were taxed by the seneschal, according to the proofs made concerning the same; and because the seneschal has written to the king that he had suspended the execution of the letter of marque for a time at the request of the duke's proctor, and that the duke and his proctor endeavour to annul Henry's process and to hinder his recovering his goods and damages by wilful and undue processes in the court of France and elsewhere, the king, although he might continue the letter of marque without further process, requests the duke to cause satisfaction to be made to Henry without further delay. The king greatly desires that Henry should be satisfied in a friendly manner rather than that his damages should be levied from non-consenting parties (ab invitis), as is usual in such cases. The duke is requested to certify the king of his proceedings herein before St. Andrew's next by his letters and by the bearer of the presents.

Sept. 13. York. To R. count of Flanders. The king, whilst staying in the northern parts of his realm, heard with regret that dissensions have arisen between the barons and men of the Cinque Ports and the count's men, and he has sent W. archbishop of Canterbury and John, bishop of Ely, his treasurer, to the barons and men of the Cinque Ports to prohibit their grieving or damaging the count's subjects under pain of forfeiture; wherefore he requests the count to issue a similar prohibition to his subjects; and he further requests him to send certain of his subjects to this realm with full power to treat concerning the damages suffered by both sides and to reform lasting peace, as the king proposes shortly to appoint certain of his subjects to enquire concerning the aforesaid damages, and to do full and speedy justice to the sufferers. Concerning the cloth, wines, and other goods whereof the count's men were despoiled by the king's men at Crasdun' and La Rye, as contained in the count's letters exhibited to the king by Master John Boerlike, clerk of the town of Ypres, the king will cause restitution or satisfaction to be made for the same, so far as the damages are clearly proved by the process had in this matter or by a new process if necessary. As the king learns that his enemies the Scots are endeavouring to make confederacies with the count's subjects, and to draw men, armour, and victuals from the count's lands in order to strengthen themselves against the king and his faithful subjects, he requests the count, as he did at another time, to consider the love and concord that have existed between his and the king's progenitors, which the king desires may be observed inviolably, and to enjoin his subjects, under grievous forfeiture, not to aid or comfort the king's said enemies with victuals, armour, or other necessaries, or to communicate with them in any way. The count is desired to write back by the bearer hereof an account of his proceedings in this matter. [Fœdera.]

Marcellinus and Peter, and L. cardinal-deacon of St. Mary's in Via Lata, and upon others in their train, at Ache, within the liberty of the bishopric of Durham, on account of which outrages many persons of the sheriff's county are, as the king learns, much disturbed and terrified, and that the king will cause any excess that may have been committed by his ministers or others of his household by the taking of their goods or otherwise to be corrected and amended; so that his people may be defended from wrong and oppression. Nov. 15. Westminster. To R. count of Flanders. The king has received complaint from his merchants Raymond Soumas, Peter Massan, and Bertrand de Terra Meyra, citizens of Bordeaux, that whereas lately Raymond loaded 25 tuns and a pipe, Peter loaded 21 tuns and a pipe, and Bertrand loaded 11 tuns and a pipe of wine at Bordeaux in a ship called 'le Bon An' of Gosford, for the purpose of carrying the same to London, certain malefactors of the count's power lying in wait upon the sea took the ship laden with the said wines by violence at Merkat near the Isle of Thanet whilst on her voyage to London, and carried her and the wines away with them to Flanders, for which the said merchants have prayed the king to provide them with a remedy: wherefore the king requests the count to cause restitution or satisfaction to be made to his said merchants for their wines and for their damages, and to write back by the bearer an account of what he shall have ordered to be done.

Dec. 12. Windsor. The men of the city of Canterbury. Order to remove John de Bisshopesgate from the office of bailiff of that city without delay, if he have been convicted of divers conspiracies, robberies, felonies, and other evil deeds, as it is said that he has been convicted thereof, and to elect in his place Baldwin Pas if he be fit, or some other fit person, the king having specially requested them to permit Baldwin, who was one of the bailiffs of the city last year, to retain office for this year, as he conducted himself well in that bailiwick; notwithstanding this request, they have elected the aforesaid John, which the king regards as being to his contempt and prejudice, wherefore he will act against them and their liberty when the opportunity arises, as it is not consonant with right that any person convicted of such offences should intermeddle with an office touching the king. Moreover, after Baldwin was amoved from office, certain malefactors of that city threatened him with loss of life and limb, and do daily threaten him; wherefore the king enjoins them to cause Baldwin to have such firm peace of the aforesaid malefactors that he may be secure of his body. Nov. 15. Westminster. To R. count of Flanders. At the complaint of the king's merchants Aymer de Insula, citizen of Bordeaux, and Arnald de Osyle, citizen of Bazas (Vasaten'), that whereas they had laden at Bordeaux a ship called 'Bona Navis' of La Strode with 86 tuns and 25 pipes of wine, for the purpose of bringing the same to this realm to trade there with the same, certain malefactors of the count's power lay in wait for the ship on the sea, and entered her by armed force on the sea coast near the Isle of Thanet, and took and carried away her and her cargo, the king ordered the sheriff of Kent to cause inquiry to be made concerning this robbery; by which inquisition it was found that John Crabbe and other malefactors of the count's lands captured by force and arms the aforesaid ship, laden with 86 tuns and 25 pipes of wine, price 788*l.* sterling, price of a tun 8*l.* and of a pipe 4*l.*, at Les Dunes near the Isle of Thanet, and took the ship and cargo to Flanders, detaining from Aymer and Arnald the wines aforesaid, whereof 43 tuns and 13 pipes belonged to Aymer and 43 tuns and 12 pipes to Arnald, as has been acknowledged before the king by John Dosyoun, brother of Arnald: wherefore the king, considering that such rapine committed upon his merchants and within his power is not only to the detriment of the merchants, but would also redound to his shame and contempt unless an opportune remedy be provided, and wishing to protect his subjects in his peace and protection from wrong and violence, requests the count to cause restitution or satisfaction to be made to Aymer and Arnald for the wines or their value and for their damages, so that it may not behove the king to provide them with another remedy.

If John refuse to do so, he requests the count to cause justice to be done to the said merchants, as he would that the king should do to his merchants in like case.

of the land of Flanders had taken by armed power a ship called 'Le Bon An' of Strode, laden at Bordeaux with 86 tuns (solidis) and 25 pipes of wine by Aymer de Insula, citizen and merchant of Bordeaux, and Arnold Dosynghone, citizen and merchant of Bazas (Vasaten'), on her voyage to London, at Les Dunes on the sea coast near the Isle of Thanet, and that they carried the ship with them to Flanders; and the king wrote to the count to cause restitution or satisfaction to be made to the said merchants; and the count at length replied that he was ignorant of the premises as he was not certified of the aforesaid deed nor of the persons who committed it, adding that he would punish the delinquents if found within his power; at which answer the king is much astonished, since John Crabbe the principal perpetrator is well known to be of the county of Flanders and stays therein, as the king learns, when he wishes, and the king learns in addition that the wines aforesaid come to the count's use and profit, and that the count gave the ship to the lord of Meldyngham: wherefore the king requests him to cause restitution of the ship and wines, or satisfaction therefor, and for their damages to be made to the said merchants without further delay, so that it may not behove the king to provide them with another remedy. The count is desired to write back an account of his proceedings herein by the bearer.

Feb. 1. Windsor. To R. count of Flanders. Because it was lately found by an inquisition taken by the sheriff of Kent that certain malefactors of the count's power took by armed force a ship of Robert Youn, Alan atte Warfe, and Thomas Tuk, citizens and merchants of London, called 'La Swalewe' of London, laden with wines, linen cloths, canvas, and other goods of Robert, Alan, Thomas, and of Henry le Palmer, whilst anchored at Mergate within the king's power, and slew the master and mariners of the same, and took away with them the ship and her tackle, price 200 marks sterling, together with the goods and merchandize found in her, to wit 25 tuns and 7 pipes of wine, price 171*l.* sterling, canvas, linen cloth, and other goods to the value of 24*l.* sterling, silver cups, beds, robes, armour and other small necessaries, price 30*l.* sterling, and 60*l.* sterling in money by tale, and carried the same to La Swyne within the count's dominion, detaining the same from the said merchants to their damage of 100*l.* in addition to the above sums, the king frequently requested the count to cause restitution or satisfaction to be made to the said merchants; and the count at length replied that he was in ignorance in this matter, as he was not informed concerning the above deed nor of those who committed it, adding that he would punish them if found within his power; as it is now testified before the king that (apud) Lambesin White, William Hoscard, William Denel, Christian Wolpyn, John Spaynard, William Reinald, Quintin Hereman, Quintin Broun, Hanekyn Colure, Richard Rawel, John Malefit, Quintin le Penson, John le Moselere, John Lemesone, and Peter Seeman committed the said trespass and robbery, and that they took with them to Flanders a boy (garcionem) found in the said ship, having slain the mariners and all others found in her, which boy stayed in Flanders for nearly a year with some of the trespassers aforesaid and with John le Gos, then the count's bailiff of Leschufe, and that the wines found in the ship were delivered by the said malefactors to John Tripet of Male for the count's use, which John appropriated to himself a dog found in the ship together with the charter of the freight of the ship, and that the aforesaid Quintin Lempescue (sic) sold the said ship to John Lompesone, his brother, who repaired it otherwise than it was before in order that it should not be recognised; wherefore the king signifies the premises to the count in evidence of the affair, and requests him to cause restitution or satisfaction to be made to the said merchants of their ship and goods and their damages without further delay, according to the contents of the count's aforesaid letter, so that it may not behove the king to provide them with another remedy. He is desired to write back an account of his proceedings by the bearer.

Feb. 10. Windsor. To R. count of Flanders. Because it was lately found by inquisition taken by the sheriff of Kent that certain malefactors of the count's power entered by armed force a ship of Hamo de Chiggewell, merchant of London, called 'La Nicolas' of London, laden with wine, oil, and other goods of Hamo's and of William de Bedele and Elias Petri, merchants of the said city, whilst anchored within the king's power at Kyngesdoune near the port of Sandwich, and carried away to Flanders the goods found in her, to wit 178 tuns and 9 pipes of wine, price 1,095*l.* sterling, price of each tun 6*l.*, 10 quarters of wheaten flour, price 10*l.* sterling, each quarter 20*s.*, six quintals of whale (balena), price 104*l.*, each quintal 4*l.* (sic), a tun and two barrels of nut oil, price 11*l.*, and a pipe of vinegar, price 60*s.*, and saffron (crocum) and pepper, price 43*l.*, and armour, price 13*l.*, and 40*l.* in money by tale, and silver cups, beds, robes, chests, and other goods of the master, mariners, and merchants, price 20*l.*, and slew the master and mariners of the ship, except three mariners, and afterwards scuttled and sank the ship and her tackle, price 250 marks sterling, the king requested the count to cause restitution or satisfaction to be made to the said merchants; to which the count at length replied that he was in ignorance of the premises since he was not informed of the deed nor of those who committed it, adding that he would punish the delinquents if found in his power; at which answer the king marvels, since it was found by the said inquisition that the malefactors were of the count's power, and that they had committed the premises by the maintenance and assent of the count and of all the community of Flanders, and it is testified before the king that the said malefactors came upon the sea with a great fleet of ships and so perpetrated the aforesaid robbery, and that the deed was committed at the place aforesaid, the men of those parts standing by and seeing it and having full notice that the trespassers (transgressionibus) were of the count's power; wherefore the king requests the count to cause restitution or satisfaction to be made to the said merchants without delay for the same

Feb. 12. Windsor. To Robert, count of Flanders. Whereas the king lately requested him to do justice to William [de] Cumbmartyn, citizen and merchant of London, and John Gregory, Adam Fode, and Edward Reygnald, merchants of Lym, concerning 29 serplers of wool taken and carried away from them in a river between Gravelinges and Bystath by John de Fienles and his men, and he wrote back that he had addressed the said John concerning this matter, and John replied that he would, out of reverence for the king and love of the count, satisfy the said merchants for the wool if the king would cause the value thereof to be levied of the said John's goods and chattels within this realm at fitting terms, and would cause the same to be paid to the merchants. The king is gratified with this answer, but as he cannot well fulfil what is contained in the answer by the count's answer without the aforesaid John, he requests the count to induce John to satisfy the merchants or their attorneys for the value of the wool aforesaid, or to cause his letters patent to be made in due form to them containing the value of the wool and the terms of payment, whereby the king may cause the value to be levied of John's lands and goods in England and may pay the same to the merchants. If John refuse to do so, the count is requested to cause justice to be done to the merchants, as it pertains to him to do justice to those complaining of such trespasses within his power, so that it may not behove the king to provide them with another remedy. He is desired to write back by the bearer an account of his proceedings in this matter, and of what the said John shall cause to be done.

Jan. 28. Westminster. To John, lord of Fyenles. On the complaint of Adam Hunteman, merchant and citizen of London, that whereas he caused 13 serplers of wool to be laden in a ship in the port of London in order to take the same to St. Omer to make his profit thereof, the said John and his bailiffs of Gynes, believing the wool to be the property of someone of the town of St. Omer and not of the king's land or power, caused it to be arrested in Gynes, the king has frequently written to him requesting him to cause satisfaction or restitution thereof to be made to Adam; and the said John has signified to the king, amongst other things, that, although he understood from burgesses of Ypres and elsewhere that the wool belonged to certain men of St. Omer, he had assigned a day to the said merchant within the quinzaine of the Purification to return to him, promising him that he would, out of love for the king, do in this behalf what of right ought to suffice; for which the king thanks him. The king, confiding in his promise, has caused the said merchant to be sent to him, and he requests him to cause restitution to be made of the wool aforesaid, together with the damages sustained by the said merchant, without delay, so that it may not behove the king to provide the merchant with another remedy.

CALENDARS OF STATE PAPERS, &c.

[IMPERIAL 8vo., cloth. Price 15*s.* each Volume or Part.]

As far back as the year 1800, a Committee of the House of Commons recommended that Indexes and Calendars should be made to the Public Records, and thirty-six years afterwards another Committee of the House of Commons reiterated that recommendation in more forcible words; but it was not until the incorporation of the State Paper Office with the Public Record Office that the Master of the Rolls found himself in a position to take the necessary steps for carrying out the wishes of the House of Commons.

On 7 December 1855, he stated to the Lords of the Treasury that although "the Records, State Papers, and Documents in his charge constitute the most complete and perfect series of their kind in the civilized world," and although "they are of the greatest value in a historical and constitutional point of view, yet they are comparatively useless to the public, from the want of proper Calendars and Indexes."

Their Lordships assented to the necessity of having Calendars prepared and printed, and empowered the Master of the Rolls to take such steps as might be necessary for this purpose.

The following Works have been already published in this Series:—

THE CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

[ROYAL 8vo. Price 10*s.* each Volume or Part.]

On 25 July 1822, the House of Commons presented an address to the Crown, stating that the editions of the works of our ancient historians were inconvenient and defective; that many of their writings still remained in manuscript, and, in some cases, in a single copy only. They added, "that an uniform and convenient edition of the whole, published "under His Majesty's royal sanction, would be an undertaking honour- "able to His Majesty's reign, and conducive to the advancement of "historical and constitutional knowledge; that the House therefore "humbly besought His Majesty, that He would be graciously pleased to "give such directions as His Majesty, in His wisdom, might think fit, "for the publication of a complete edition of the ancient historians "of this realm."

The Master of the Rolls, being very desirous that effect should be given to the resolution of the House of Commons, submitted to Her Majesty's Treasury in 1857 a plan for the publication of the ancient chronicles and memorials of the United Kingdom, and it was adopted accordingly.

Of the Chronicles and Memorials, the following volumes have been published. They embrace the period from the earliest time of British history down to the end of the reign of Henry VII.

1. THE CHRONICLE OF ENGLAND, by JOHN CAPGRAVE. Edited by the Rev. F. C. HINGESTON, M.A. 1858.

   Capgrave's Chronicle extends from the creation of the world to the year 1417. As a record of the language spoken in Norfolk (being written in English), it is of considerable value.

   CHRONICON MONASTERII DE ABINGDON. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH STEVENSON, M.A., Vicar of Leighton Buzzard. 1858.

   This Chronicle traces the history of the monastery from its foundation by King Ina of Wessex, to the reign of Richard I. The author had access to the title deeds of the house, and incorporates into his history various charters of the Saxon kings, of great importance as illustrating not only the history of the locality but that of the kingdom.

3. LIVES OF EDWARD THE CONFESSOR. I.—La Estoire de Seint Aedward le Rei. II.—Vita Beati Edvardi Regis et Confessoris. III.—Vita Æduuardi Regis qui apud Westmonasterium requiescit. Edited by HENRY RICHARDS LUARD, M.A., Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Trinity College, Cambridge. 1858.

   The first is a poem in Norman French, probably written in 1245. The second is an anonymous poem, written between 1440 and 1450, which is mainly valuable as a specimen of the Latin poetry of the time. The third, also by an anonymous author, was apparently written between 1066 and 1074.

4. MONUMENTA FRANCISCANA. Vol. I.—Thomas de Eccleston de Adventu Fratrum Minorum in Angliam. Adæ de Marisco Epistolæ. Registrum Fratrum Minorum Londoniæ. Edited by J. S. BREWER, M.A., Professor of English Literature, King's College, London. Vol. II.—De Adventu Minorum; re-edited, with additions. Chronicle of the Grey Friars. The ancient English version of the Rule of St. Francis. Abbreviatio Statutorum, 1451, &c. Edited by RICHARD HOWLETT, Barrister-at-Law. 1858, 1882.

   The first volume contains original materials for the history of the settlement of the order of St. Francis in England, the letters of Adam de Marisco, and other papers. The second volume contains materials found since the first volume was published.

5. Fasciculi Zizaniorum Magistri Johannis Wyclif cum Tritico. Ascribed to Thomas Netter, of Walden, Provincial of the Carmelite Order in England, and Confessor to King Henry the Fifth. Edited by the Rev. W. W. Shirley, M.A., Tutor and late Fellow of Wadham College, Oxford. 1858.

This work gives the only contemporaneous account of the rise of the Lollards.

6. The Buik of the Croniclis of Scotland; or, A Metrical Version of the History of Hector Boece; by William Stewart. Vols. I., II., and III. Edited by W. B. Turnbull, Barrister-at-Law. 1858.

This is a metrical translation of a Latin Prose Chronicle, written in the first half of the 16th century. The narrative begins with the earliest legends and ends with the death of James I. of Scotland, and the "evil ending of the traitors that slew him." The peculiarities of the Scottish dialect are well illustrated in this version.

7. Johannis Capgrave Liber de Illustribus Henricis. Edited by the Rev. F. C. Hingeston, M.A. 1858.

The first part relates only to the history of the Empire from the election of Henry I. the Fowler, to the end of the reign of the Emperor Henry VI. The second part is devoted to English history, from the accession of Henry I. in 1100, to 1446, which was the twenty-fourth year of the reign of Henry VI. The third part contains the lives of illustrious men who have borne the name of Henry in various parts of the world.

8. Historia Monasterii S. Augustini Cantuariensis, by Thomas of Elmham, formerly Monk and Treasurer of that Foundation. Edited by Charles Hardwick, M.A., Fellow of St. Catharine's Hall, and Christian Advocate in the University of Cambridge. 1858.

This history extends from the arrival of St. Augustine in Kent until 1191.

9. Eulogium (Historiarum sive Temporis): Chronicon ab Orbe condito usque ad Annum Domini 1366; a monacho quodam Malmesbiriensi exaratum. Vols. I., II., and III. Edited by F. S. Haydon, B.A. 1858–1863.

This is a Latin Chronicle extending from the Creation to the latter part of the reign of Edward III., and written by a monk of Malmesbury, about the year 1367. A continuation carries the history of England down to the year 1413.

10. Memorials of Henry the Seventh: Bernardi Andreæ Tholosatis Vita Regis Henrici Septimi; necnon alia quædam ad eundem Regem spectantia. Edited by James Gairdner. 1858.

The contents of this volume are—(1) a life of Henry VII., by his poet Laureate and historiographer, Bernard André, of Toulouse, with some compositions in verse, of which he is supposed to have been the author; (2) the journals of Roger Machado during certain embassies to Spain and Brittany, the first of which had reference to the marriage of the King's son, Arthur, with Catharine of Arragon; (3) two curious reports by envoys sent to Spain in 1505 touching the succession to the Crown of Castile, and a project of marriage between Henry VII. and the Queen of Naples; and (4) an account of Philip of Castile's reception in England in 1506. Other documents of interest are given in an appendix.

11. Memorials of Henry the Fifth. I.—Vita Henrici Quinti, Roberto Redmanno auctore. II.—Versus Rhythmici in laudem Regis Henrici Quinti. III.—Elmhami Liber Metricus de Henrico V. Edited by Charles A. Cole. 1858.

12. Munimenta Gildhallæ Londoniensis; Liber Albus, Liber Custumarum, et Liber Horn, in archivis Gildhallæ asservati. Vol. I., Liber Albus. Vol. II. (in Two Parts). Liber Custumarum. Vol. III., Translation of the Anglo-Norman Passages in Liber Albus, Glossaries, Appendices, and Index. Edited by Henry Thomas Riley, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. 1859–1862.

The Liber Albus, compiled by John Carpenter, Common Clerk of the City of London in the year 1419, gives an account of the laws, regulations, and institutions of that City in the 12th, 13th, 14th, and early part of the 15th centuries. The Liber Custumarum was compiled in the early part of the 14th century during the reign of Edward II. It also gives an account of the laws, regulations, and institutions of the City of London in the 12th, 13th, and early part of the 14th centuries.

13. Chronica Johannis de Oxenedes. Edited by Sir Henry Ellis, K.H. 1859.

Although this Chronicle tells of the arrival of Hengist and Horsa, it substantially begins with the reign of King Alfred, and comes down to 1292. It is particularly valuable for notices of events in the eastern portions of the Kingdom.

14. A COLLECTION OF POLITICAL POEMS AND SONGS RELATING TO ENGLISH HISTORY, FROM THE ACCESSION OF EDWARD III. TO THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII. Vols. I. and II. Edited by THOMAS WRIGHT, M.A. 1859–1861.

15. The "OPUS TERTIUM," "OPUS MINUS," &c. of ROGER BACON. Edited by J. S. BREWER, M.A., Professor of English Literature, King's College, London. 1859.

16. BARTHOLOMÆI DE COTTON, MONACHI NORWICENSIS, HISTORIA ANGLICANA; 449–1298; necnon ejusdem Liber de Achiepiscopis et Episcopis Angliæ. Edited by HENRY RICHARDS LUARD, M.A., Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Trinity College, Cambridge, 1859.

17. BRUT Y TYWYSOGION; or, The Chronicle of the Princes of Wales. Edited by the Rev. JOHN WILLIAMS AB ITHEL, M.A. 1860.

This work, written in the ancient Welsh language, begins with the abdication and death of Caedwala at Rome, in the year 681, and continues the history down to the subjugation of Wales by Edward I., about the year 1282.

18. A COLLECTION OF ROYAL AND HISTORICAL LETTERS DURING THE REIGN OF HENRY IV. 1399–1404. Edited by the Rev. F. C. HINGESTON, M.A., of Exeter College, Oxford. 1860.

19. THE REPRESSOR OF OVER MUCH BLAMING OF THE CLERGY. By REGINALD PECOCK, sometime Bishop of Chichester. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. CHURCHILL BABINGTON, B.D., Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge. 1860.

The "Repressor" may be considered the earliest piece of good theological disquisition of which our English prose literature can boast. The author was born about the end of the fourteenth century, consecrated Bishop of St. Asaph in the year 1444, and translated to the see of Chichester in 1450. His work is interesting chiefly because it gives a full account of the views of the Lollards, and it has great value for the philologist.

20. ANNALES CAMBRIÆ. Edited by the Rev. JOHN WILLIAMS AB ITHEL, M.A. 1860.

These annals, which are in Latin, commenced in 447, and come down to 1288. The earlier portion appears to be taken from an Irish Chronicle used by Tigernach, and by the compiler of the Annals of Ulster.

21. THE WORKS OF GIRALDUS CAMBRENSIS. Vols. I.–IV. Edited by the Rev. J. S. BREWER, M.A., Professor of English Literature, King's College, London. Vols. V.–VII. Edited by the Rev. JAMES F. DIMOCK, M.A., Rector of Barnburgh, Yorkshire. Vol. VIII. Edited by GEORGE F. WARNER, M.A., of the Department of MSS., British Museum. 1861–1891.

These volumes contain the historical works of Gerald du Barry, who lived in the reigns of Henry II., Richard I., and John. His works are of a very miscellaneous nature, both in prose and verse, and are remarkable for the anecdotes which they contain.

The Topographia Hibernica (in Vol. V.) is the result of Giraldus' two visits to Ireland, the first in 1183, the second in 1185-6, when he accompanied Prince John into that country. The Expugnatio Hibernica was written about 1188, and may be regarded rather as a great epic than a sober relation of acts occurring in his own days. Vol. VI. contains the Itinerarium Kambriæ et Descriptio Kambriæ; and Vol. VII., the lives of S. Remigius and S. Hugh. Vol. VIII. contains the Treatise De Principum Instructione, and an Index to Vols. I.–IV. and VIII.

22. LETTERS AND PAPERS ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE WARS OF THE ENGLISH IN FRANCE DURING THE REIGN OF HENRY THE SIXTH, KING OF ENGLAND. Vol. I., and Vol. II. (in Two Parts). Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH STEVENSON, M.A., Vicar of Leighton Buzzard. 1861–1864.

23. THE ANGLO-SAXON CHRONICLE, ACCORDING TO THE SEVERAL ORIGINAL AUTHORITIES. Vol. I., Original Texts. Vol. II., Translation. Edited and translated by BENJAMIN THORPE, Member of the Royal Academy of Sciences at Munich, and of the Society of Netherlandish Literature at Leyden. 1861.

There are at present six independent manuscripts of the Saxon Chronicle, ending in different years, and written in different parts of the country. In this edition, the text of each manuscript is printed in columns on the same page, so that the student may see at a glance the various changes which occur in orthography.

24. LETTERS AND PAPERS ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE REIGNS OF RICHARD III. AND HENRY VII. Vols. I. and II. Edited by JAMES GAIRDNER. 1861–1863.

The principal contents of the volumes are some diplomatic Papers of Richard III.; correspondence between Henry VII. and Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain; documents relating to Edmund de la Pole, Earl of Suffolk; and a portion of the correspondence of James IV. of Scotland.

25. LETTERS OF BISHOP GROSSETESTE. Edited by the Rev. HENRY RICHARDS LUARD, M.A., Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Trinity College, Cambridge. 1861.

The letters of Robert Grosseteste range in date from about 1210 to 1253, and relate to various matters connected not only with the political history of England during the reign of Henry III., but with its ecclesiastical condition. They refer especially to the diocese of Lincoln, of which Grosseteste was bishop.

26. DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF MANUSCRIPTS RELATING TO THE HISTORY OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. Vol. I. (in Two Parts); Anterior to the Norman Invasion. Vol. II.; 1066–1200. Vol. III.; 1200–1327. By Sir THOMAS DUFFUS HARDY, D.C.L., Deputy Keeper of the Records. 1862–1871.

The object of this work is to publish notices of all known sources of British history, both printed and unprinted, in one continued sequence. The materials, when historical (as distinguished from biographical), are arranged under the year in which the latest event is recorded in the chronicle or history, and not under the period in which its author, real or supposed, flourished. Biographies are enumerated under the year in which the person commemorated died, and not under the year in which the life was written. A brief analysis of each work has been added when deserving it, in which original portions are distinguished from mere compilations. A biographical sketch of the author of each piece has been added, and a brief notice of such British authors as have written on historical subjects.

27. ROYAL AND OTHER HISTORICAL LETTERS ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE REIGN OF HENRY III. Vol. I., 1216–1235. Vol. II., 1236–1272. Selected and edited by the Rev. W. W. SHIRLEY, D.D., Regius Professor of Ecclesiastical History, and Canon of Christ Church, Oxford. 1862–1866.

28. CHRONICA MONASTERII S. ALBANI.—1. THOMÆ WALSINGHAM HISTORIA ANGLICANA; Vol. I., 1272–1381: Vol. II., 1381–1422. 2. WILLELMI RISHANGER CHRONICA ET ANNALES, 1259-1307. 3. JOHANNIS DE TROKELOWE ET HENRICI DE BLANEFORDE CHRONICA ET ANNALES, 1259–1296; 1307–1324; 1392–1406. 4. GESTA ABBATUM MONASTERII S. ALBANI, A THOMA WALSINGHAM, REGNANTE RICARDO SECUNDO, EJUSDEM ECCLESIÆ PRÆCENTORE, COMPILATA; Vol. I., 793–1290: Vol. II., 1290–1349: Vol. III., 1349–1411. 5. JOHANNIS AMUNDESHAM, MONACHI MONASTERII S. ALBANI, UT VIDETUR, ANNALES; Vols. I. and II. 6. REGISTRA QUORUNDAM ABBATUM MONASTERII S. ALBANI, QUI SÆCULO XV^mo^ FLORUERE; Vol. I., REGISTRUM ABBATIÆ JOHANNIS WHETHAMSTEDE, ABBATIS MONASTERII SANCTI ALBANI, ITERUM SUSCEPTÆ; ROBERTO BLAKENEY, CAPELLANO, QUONDAM ADSCRIPTUM: Vol. II., REGISTRA JOHANNIS WHETHAMSTEDE, WILLELMI ALBON, ET WILLELMI WALINGFORDE, ABBATUM MONASTERII SANCTI ALBANI, CUM APPENDICE, CONTINENTE QUASDAM EPISTOLAS, A JOHANNE WHETHAMSTEDE CONSCRIPTAS. 7. YPODIGMA NEUSTRIÆ A THOMA WALSINGHAM, QUONDAM MONACHO MONASTERII S. ALBANI, CONSCRIPTUM. Edited by HENRY THOMAS RILEY, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. 1863–1876.

In the first two volumes is a History of England, from the death of Henry III. to the death of Henry V., by Thomas Walsingham, Precentor of St. Albans.

In the 3rd volume is a Chronicle of English History, attributed to William Rishanger, who lived in the reign of Edward I.: an account of transactions attending the award of the kingdom of Scotland to John Balliol, 1291–1292, also attributed to William Rishanger, but on no sufficient ground: a short Chronicle of English History, 1292 to 1300, by an unknown hand: a short Chronicle Willelmi Rishanger Gesta Edwardi Primi, Regis Angliæ, with Annales Regum Angliæ, probably by the same hand: and fragments of three Chronicles of English History, 1285 to 1307.

In the 4th volume is a Chronicle of English History, 1259 to 1296: Annals of Edward II., 1307 to 1323, by John de Trokelowe, a monk of St. Albans, and a continuation of Trokelowe's Annals, 1323, 1324, by Henry de Blaneforde: a full Chronicle of English History, 1392 to 1406; and an account of the Benefactors of St. Albans, written in the early part of the 15th century.

The 5th, 6th, and 7th volumes contain a history of the Abbots of St. Albans, 793 to 1411, mainly compiled by Thomas Walsingham: with a Continuation.

The 8th and 9th volumes, in continuation of the Annals, contain a Chronicle, probably by John Amundesham, a monk of St. Albans.

The 10th and 11th volumes relate especially to the acts and proceedings of Abbots Whethamstede, Albon, and Wallingford.

The 12th volume contains a compendious History of England to the reign of Henry V., and of Normandy in early times, also by Thomas Walsingham, and dedicated to Henry V.

29. CHRONICON ABBATIÆ EVESHAMENSIS, AUCTORIBUS DOMINICO PRIORE EVESHAMIÆ ET THOMA DE MARLEBERGE ABBATE, A FUNDATIONE AD ANNUM 1213, UNA CUM CONTINUATIONE AD ANNUM 1418. Edited by the Rev. W. D. MACRAY, Bodleian Library, Oxford. 1863.

The Chronicle of Evesham illustrates the history of that important monastery from about 690 to 1418. Its chief feature is an autobiography, which makes us acquainted with the inner daily life of a great abbey. Interspersed are many notices of general, personal, and local history.

30. RICARDI DE CIRENCESTRIA SPECULUM HISTORIALE DE GESTIS REGUM ANGLIÆ. Vol. I., 447–871. Vol. II., 872–1066. Edited by JOHN E. B. MAYOR, M.A., Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge. 1863–1869.

Richard of Cirencester's history, in four books, extends from 447 to 1066. It gives many charters in favour of Westminster Abbey, and a very full account of the lives and miracles of the saints, especially of Edward the Confessor, whose reign occupies the fourth book. A treatise on the Coronation, by William of Sudbury, a monk of Westminster, fills book ii. c. 3.

31. YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD THE FIRST. Years 20–21, 21–22, 30–31, 32–33, and 33–35 Edw. I; and 11–12 Edw. III. Edited and translated by ALFRED JOHN HORWOOD, Barrister-at-Law. Years 12–13, 13–14, 14, 14–15, and 15, Edward III. Edited and translated by LUKE OWEN PIKE, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. 1863–1891.

The "Year Books" are the earliest of our Law Reports. They contain matter not only of practical utility to lawyers in the present day, but also illustrative of almost every branch of history, while for certain philological purposes they hold a position absolutely unique.

32. NARRATIVES OF THE EXPULSION OF THE ENGLISH FROM NORMANDY, 1449–1450.—Robertus Blondelli de Reductione Normanniæ: Le Recouvrement de Normendie, par Berry, Hérault du Roy: Conferences between the Ambassadors of France and England. Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH STEVENSON, M.A. 1863.

33. HISTORIA ET CARTULARIUM MONASTERII S. PETRI GLOUCESTRIÆ. Vols. I., II., and III. Edited by W. H. HART, F.S.A., Membre correspondant de la Société des Antiquaires de Normandie. 1863–1867.

34. ALEXANDRI NECKAM DE NATURIS RERUM LIBRI DUO; with NECKAM'S POEM, DE LAUDIBUS DIVINÆ SAPIENTIÆ. Edited by THOMAS WRIGHT, M.A. 1863.

In the De Naturis Rerum are to be found what may be called the rudiments of many sciences mixed up with much error and ignorance. Neckam had his own views in morals, and in giving us a glimpse of them, as well as of his other opinions, he throws much light upon the manners, customs, and general tone of thought prevalent in the twelfth century.

35. LEECHDOMS, WORTCUNNING, AND STARCRAFT OF EARLY ENGLAND; being a Collection of Documents illustrating the History of Science in this Country before the Norman Conquest. Vols. I., II., and III. Collected and edited by the Rev. T. OSWALD COCKAYNE, M.A. 1864–1866.

36. ANNALES MONASTICI. Vol. I.:—Annales de Margan, 1066–1232; Annales de Theokesberia, 1066–1263; Annales de Burton, 1004–1263. Vol. II.:—Annales Monasterii de Wintonia, 519–1277; Annales Monasterii de Waverleia, 1–1291. Vol. III.:—Annales Prioratus de Dunstaplia, 1–1297. Annales Monasterii de Bermundeseia, 1042–1432. Vol. IV.:—Annales Monasterii de Oseneia, 1016–1347; Chronicon vulgo dictum Chronicon Thomæ Wykes, 1066–1289; Annales Prioratus de Wigornia, 1–1377. Vol. V.:—Index and Glossary. Edited by HENRY RICHARDS LUARD, M.A., Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Trinity College, and Registrary of the University, Cambridge. 1864–1869.

The present collection embraces chronicles compiled in religious houses in England during the thirteenth century. These distinct works are ten in number. The extreme period which they embrace ranges from the year 1 to 1432.

37. MAGNA VITA S. HUGONIS EPISCOPI LINCOLNIENSIS. Edited by the Rev. JAMES F. DIMOCK, M.A., Rector of Barnburgh, Yorkshire. 1864.

This work is valuable, not only as a biography of a celebrated ecclesiastic but as the work of a man, who, from personal knowledge, gives notices of passing events, as well as of individuals who were then taking active part in public affairs.

38. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF THE REIGN OF RICHARD THE FIRST. Vol. I.:—ITINERARIUM PEREGRINORUM ET GESTA REGIS RICARDI. Vol. II.:—EPISTOLÆ CANTUARIENSES; the Letters of the Prior and Convent of Christ Church, Canterbury; 1187 to 1199. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Vicar of Navestock, Essex, and Lambeth Librarian. 1864–1865.

The authorship of the Chronicle in Vol. I., hitherto ascribed to Geoffrey Vinesauf, is now more correctly ascribed to Richard, Canon of the Holy Trinity of London.

In letters in Vol. II., written between 1187 and 1199, had their origin in a dispute which arose from the attempts of Baldwin and Hubert, archbishops of Canterbury, to found a college of secular canons, a project which gave great umbrage to the monks of Canterbury.

39. RECUEIL DES CRONIQUES ET ANCHIENNES ISTORIES DE LA GRANT BRETAIGNE A PRESENT NOMME ENGLETERRE, par JEHAN DE WAURIN. Vol. I. Albina to 688. Vol. II., 1399–1422. Vol. III., 1422–1431. Edited by WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A. 1864–1879. Vol. IV., 1431–1447. Vol. V., 1447–1471. Edited by Sir WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A., and EDWARD L. C. P. HARDY, F.S.A. 1884–1891.

40. A COLLECTION OF THE CHRONICLES AND ANCIENT HISTORIES OF GREAT BRITAIN, NOW CALLED ENGLAND, by JOHN DE WAURIN. Vol. I., Albina to 668. Vol. II., 1399–1422. Vol. III., 1422–1431. (Translations of the preceding Vols. I., II., and III.) Edited and translated by Sir WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A., and EDWARD L. C. P. HARDY, F.S.A. 1864–1891.

41. POLYCHRONICON RANULPHI HIGDEN, with Trevisa's Translation. Vols. I. and II. Edited by CHURCHILL BABINGTON, B.D., Senior Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge. Vols. III.–IX. Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH RAWSON LUMBY, D.D., Norrisian Professor of Divinity, Vicar of St. Edward's, Fellow of St. Catharine's College, and late Fellow of Magdalene College, Cambridge. 1865–1886.

This chronicle begins with the creation, and is brought down to the reign of Edward III. It enables us to form a very fair estimate of the knowledge of history and geography which well-informed readers of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries possessed, for it was then the standard work on general history.

The two English translations, which are printed with the original Latin, afford interesting illustrations of the gradual change of our language, for one was made in the fourteenth century, the other in the fifteenth.

42. LE LIVERE DE REIS DE BRITTANIE E LE LIVERE DE REIS DE ENGLETERE. Edited by the Rev. JOHN GLOVER, M.A., Vicar of Brading, Isle of Wight, formerly Librarian of Trinity College, Cambridge. 1865.

These two treaties are valuable as careful abstracts of previous historians. Some various readings are given which are interesting to the philologist as instances of semi-Saxonised French.

43. CHRONICA MONASTERII DE MELSA AB ANNO 1150 USQUE AD ANNUM 1406. Vols. I., II., and III. Edited by EDWARD AUGUSTUS BOND, Assistant Keeper of Manuscripts, and Egerton Librarian, British Museum. 1866–1868.

The Abbey of Meaux was a Cistercian house, and the work of its abbot is a faithful and often minute record of the establishment of a religious community, of its progress in forming an ample revenue, of its struggles to maintain its acquisitions, and of its relations to the governing institutions of the country.

44. MATTHÆ PARISIENSIS HISTORIA ANGLORUM, SIVE, UT VULGO DICITUR, HISTORIA MINOR. Vols. I., II., and III. 1067–1253. Edited by Sir FREDERICK MADDEN, K.H., Keeper of the Manuscript Department of British Museum. 1866–1869.

45. LIBER MONASTERII DE HYDA: A CHRONICLE AND CHARTULARY OF HYDE ABBEY, WINCHESTER, 455–1023. Edited by EDWARD EDWARDS. 1866.

The "Book of Hyde" is a compilation from much earlier sources which are usually indicated with considerable care and precision. In many cases, however, the Hyde Chronicler appears to correct, to qualify, or to amplify the statements, which, in substance, he adopts.

There is to be found, in the "Book of Hyde," much information relating to the reign of King Alfred which is not known to exist elsewhere. The volume contains some curious specimens of Anglo-Saxon and mediæval English.

46. CHRONICON SCOTORUM: A CHRONICLE OF IRISH AFFAIRS, from the earliest times to 1135; and SUPPLEMENT, containing the Events from 1141 to 1150. Edited, with Translation, by WILLIAM MAUNSELL HENNESSY, M.R.I.A. 1866.

47. THE CHRONICLE OF PIERRE DE LANGTOFT, IN FRENCH VERSE, FROM THE EARLIEST PERIOD TO THE DEATH OF EDWARD I. Vols. I. and II. Edited by THOMAS WRIGHT, M.A. 1866–1868.

It is probable that Pierre de Langtoft was a canon of Bridlington, in Yorkshire, and lived in the reign of Edward I., and during a portion of the reign of Edward II. This chronicle is divided into three parts; in the first, is an abridgment of Geoffrey of Monmouth's "Historia Britonum;" in the second, a history of the Anglo-Saxon and Norman kings, to the death of Henry III.; in the third, a history of the reign of Edward I. The language is a curious specimen of the French of Yorkshire.

48. THE WAR OF THE GAEDHIL WITH THE GAILL, OR THE INVASIONS OF IRELAND BY THE DANES AND OTHER NORSEMEN. Edited, with a Translation, by the Rev. JAMES HENTHORN TODD, D.D., Senior Fellow of Trinity College, and Regius Professor of Hebrew in the University of Dublin. 1867.

The work in its present form, in the editor's opinion, is a comparatively modern version of an ancient original. The story is told after the manner of the Scandinavian Sagas.

49. GESTA REGIS HENRICI SECUNDI BENEDICTI ABBATIS. CHRONICLE OF THE REIGNS OF HENRY II. AND RICHARD I., 1169–1192, known under the name of BENEDICT OF PETERBOROUGH. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the REV. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Regius Professor of Modern History, Oxford, and Lambeth Librarian. 1867.

50. MUNIMENTA ACADEMICA, OR, DOCUMENTS ILLUSTRATIVE OF ACADEMICAL LIFE AND STUDIES AT OXFORD (in Two Parts). Edited by the Rev. HENRY ANSTEY, M.A., Vicar of St. Wendron, Cornwall, and lately Vice-Principal of St. Mary Hall, Oxford. 1868.

51. CHRONICA MAGISTRI ROGERI DE HOUEDENE. Vols. I., II., III., and IV. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Regius Professor of Modern History, and Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford. 1868–1871.

The earlier portion, extending from 732 to 1148, appears to be a copy of a compilation made in Northumbria about 1161, to which Hoveden added little. From 1148 to 1169—a very valuable portion of this work—the matter is derived from another source, to which Hoveden appears to have supplied little. From 1170 to 1192 is the portion which corresponds to some extent with the Chronicle known under the name of Benedict of Peterborough (see No. 49). From 1192 to 1201 may be said to be wholly Hoveden's work.

WORKS PUBLISHED IN PHOTOZINCOGRAPHY.

DOMESDAY BOOK, or the GREAT SURVEY OF ENGLAND OF WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR, 1086; fac-simile of the Part relating to each county, separately (with a few exceptions of double counties). Photozincographed at the Ordinance Survey Office, Southampton, by Colonel Sir HENRY JAMES, R.E., F.R.S., &c., DIRECTOR-GENERAL of the ORDNANCE SURVEY, under the Superintendence of W. BASEVI SANDERS, an Assistant Record Keeper. 35 Parts, imperial quarto and demy quarto (1861–1863), boards.

Domesday Survey is in two parts or volumes. The first in folio, contains the counties of Bedford, Berks, Bucks, Cambridge, Chester, and Lancaster, Cornwall, Derby, Devon, Dorset, Gloucester, Hants, Hereford, Herts, Huntingdon, Kent, Leicester and Rutland, Lincoln, Middlesex, Northampton, Nottingham, Oxford, Salop, Somerset, Stafford, Surrey, Sussex, Warwick, Wilts, Worcester, and York. The second volume, in quarto, contains the counties of Essex, Norfolk and Suffolk.

Domesday Book was printed verbatim et literatim during the last century, in consequence of an address of the House of Lords to King George III. in 1767. It was not, however, commenced until 1773, and was completed early in 1783. In 1860, Her Majesty's Government with the concurrence of the Master of the Rolls, determined to apply the art of photozincography to the production of a fac-simile of Domesday Book.

This work forms a comprehensive Palæographic Series for Ireland. It furnishes characteristic specimens of the documents which have come down from each of the classes which, in past ages, formed principal elements in the population of Ireland, or exercised an influence in her affairs. With these reproductions are combined fac-similes of writings connected with eminent personages or transactions of importance in the annals of the country to the early part of the eighteenth century.

The specimens have been reproduced as nearly as possible in accordance with the originals, in dimensions, colouring, and general appearance. Characteristic examples of styles of writing and caligraphic ornamentation are, so far as practicable, associated with subjects of historic and linguistic interest. Descriptions of the various manuscripts are given by the Editor in the Introduction. The contents of the specimens are fully elucidated and printed in the original languages, opposite to the Fac-similes—line for line—without contractions—thus facilitating reference and aiding effectively those interested in palæographic studies.

In the work are also printed in full, for the first time, many original and important historical documents.

Part I. commences with the earliest Irish MSS. extant.
Part II.: From the Twelfth Century to A.D. 1299.
Part III.: From A.D. 1300 to end of reign of Henry VIII.
Part IV. 1.: From reign of Edward VI. to that of James I.
In Part IV. 2.—the work is carried down to the early part of the eighteenth century, with Index to the entire publication.
